State Says Property Values In County Up 9 Millions In Two Years, But Assessments Lag

The market value of Adams County property jumped by nearly $9,000,000 from 1950 to 1952, according to a report made by the State Tax Equalization Board to the county commissioners and superintendent of schools.

Actual value of property in the county in 1952 was listed by the state board as $89,069,856, while the figure for actual value given in a previous report for the year 1950 showed the value then to be $80,064,407.

Meantime the assessed valuation of the county increased only by about $1,300,000, from $17,486,026 to $18,747,479.

Percentage Slips

The percentage of the assessed valuation to the actual market valuation slipped from 22.965 in 1950 to 21.05 at the end of 1952.

With the county commissioners planning to set the assessed valuation at 25 per cent of actual value under the new assessment scheduled to go into effect this year, the report shows that for 28 of the 33 county school districts, the amount will represent an increase in the percentage — with resultant increases in assessments. Famous Battle Opened Here 90 Years Ago This Morning

"On Tuesday, the 30th ult., the advance of Lee's main army appeared on Seminary Hill from the direction of Chambersburg. At the same time Gen. Buford, of the Potomac Army, appeared on the opposite side of the town with a body of cavalry. It now became painfully evident that our own beautiful village was to be the scene of terrible conflict."

Thus did Robert G. Harper, editor of the Adams Sentinel write in the July 7 edition of the Gettysburg weekly newspaper 90 years ago, in describing the events of July 1, 2 and 3, 1863.

Harper had planned to issue his paper June 30, had actually completed the first page, then fled the town, and resumed the same edition, with the date July 7 on the second and following pages.

Reynolds Killed

Describing the July 1 events, Harper continued: "There rested things (after the troops had been seen on the night of June 30), each party gathering his strength and arranging his plans until Wednesday, the first of July, when the Eleventh Corps, supported by the First, by-passed southwest of town to McPherson's farm, where began the fight."

"Gen. Reynolds, who led the First Corps, fell before the battle had fully commenced, being killed by a sharpshooter. At 3 p.m. our forces were obliged to retire to Cemetery Hill, which they did in good order. It was not, however, without first capturing the rebel General Archer, and his entire brigade, who remain in our hands."

"At 4 p.m. of Thursday the fight was renewed, the enemy now being the advancing and attacking party. The roar of artillery and musketry was terrific from this time until dark, when, as if by mutual consent, Stout, business manager; Wilson College, and Dr. James F. Bender, director of the National Institute on Human Relations, New York City, one of the principal speakers at the conference.

37 Couples Are Licensed In June

Thirty-seven marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk of courts in June bringing to 152 the number granted so far this year.

That compares to 111 for the first six months of 1952. The 37 granted this June is exactly the same as the number given in June, 1952. The highest number ever granted during the month of June in this county was in 1946 when 51 applications were approved.

VIEWERS GIVE STEVENS $1,000 FOR DAMAGES

The board of viewers have awarded John B. and Cathleen D. Stevens, Carlisle St., $1,000 for damages to their property caused by the regrading of the street in front of their home according to its report filed just before noon today at the office of the county prothonotary.

At a hearing before the board in May Stevens told the three that it had cost him $1,740 to restore the property. Witnesses for Stevens set the damage at between $1,500 to $2,000.

The report directs the payment be made to Mr. and Mrs. Stevens by the borough. The town had argued before the board that it had no responsibility in the matter, and had also claimed there was no damage because there was no taking of Stevens' property in regrading the road.

In its report the board held that the borough ordinance directing the state department of highways to regrade the street put the responsibility on the borough, and that Stevens' property was actually damaged by the regrading.

Either side has the right to appeal the decision to the courts, under the laws governing such matters. The board of view comprised Attorney J. Francis Yake Jr., Pius Orner and Roy Renner.

DR. R. S. LEFEVER TALKS TO CLUB; OFF FOR KOREA

Dr. Robert S. Lefever, Gettysburg physician, now a navy lieutenant and flight surgeon, and member of the Gettysburg Exchange Club, related experiences of his training at the Pensacola, Fla., training base where he has been stationed since his recall last October, at a meeting of the club Tuesday night at Woodlawn Park.

Dr. Lefever left this morning for Alameda, Calif., where he will serve as flight surgeon with the VR 2 Flight Squadron. He expects to be assigned to large planes which carry cargoes to Japan and Korea and return to California with wounded personnel for hospitalization in this country.

The physician served in the navy during World War II and was recalled last October and sent to Pensacola. He cited figures showing the cost of training pilots, co-pilots, and radio men, engineers and other crew members, and told of the training in air-sea rescue work at Pensacola.

He said that in training for flight surgeon, he took flight training in

Around The Town

The Battle of Gettysburg which started on July 1, 1863, began on a Wednesday morning, 90 years ago today by both date and day.

M. Sgt. W. L. Baldwin, 35 W. Water St., recalled this fact today, and also that he had grandfathers on both sides of the struggle here. His paternal grandfather, Pvt. William H. Baldwin, fought with the 106th Pennsylvania Infantry at Gettysburg, and his maternal grandfather with Stewart's Cavalry on the Hanover Rd. at East Calvary Field.

Both passed away many years ago, never on speaking terms after the war, and Sgt. Baldwin, the grandson, a bugler in the Pennsylvania Reserves, sounded taps at both their funerals, he said.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Public Utility Commission moved today to require the Greyhound Bus Co. to install mechanical speed checkers on all its buses used on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

State Figures Show Taxes In This County Comparatively Low But Collection Costs Too High

Adams County in 1951, in comparison to the other 66 counties in the state, stood low in the amount of taxes levied, was higher than the state average in the amount it cost to collect the taxes; stood 43rd in the number of wage earners, 49th in the amount of wages paid, 46th in the value of its production and 48th in the amount of capital invested.

According to tables appearing in the current issue of the monthly bulletin of the state Department of Internal Affairs, the average cost in the state for the collection of local taxes in 1951 was 2.37 per cent. The average cost of tax collections in Adams County during the year was 3.86 per cent. The report shows a wide variation in the cost of collection of taxes for county purposes, from 32 per cent in Lawrence County, to 9.68 per cent in Bedford County. The cost of collecting county taxes in Adams County was 3.85 per cent, according to the report.

Township Costs Highest

Adams County boroughs spent 3.67 per cent of the amount collected to secure their taxes, school districts in the county spent 3.83 per cent, the cost of collecting the institution district taxes was 3.56 per cent and the average cost of collection of taxes by the townships was 4.41 per cent. The average cost in the state for school district taxation collections was 2.02 per cent and the average cost for collections of taxes by townships was 4.25 per cent.

The reports show Adams County to have had 6,531 wage earners in 1951, with that group receiving $11,307,000 for its work during the year. The statistics show the average worker earning $1,732.81 per year, or approximately $33.31 per week.

In neighboring York County there were 14,271 wage earners receiving $10,441,600, for an average of $2,529 per year, or $48.63 per week. Franklin county had 8,864 workers receiving wages totaling $22,415,200. The Franklin county workers re-

Can you make quick decisions?

If you can't you had better stay off the nation's highways and streets over the Fourth of July weekend, the National Safety Council said today.

"It has been estimated that the average motorist has to make from 20 to 50 decisions per hour, depending on the traffic," the Council said, "and a wrong decision can be fatal, a momentary heavy traffic, like that during holidays, a driver is never more than a second away from an accident."

The Council expects more pleasure-seeking motorists to climb into more cars and roll up more miles during this three-day weekend celebration than ever before in the nation's history.

Nearly 40 million motor vehicles are expected to jam the highways, and their speedometers are expected to clock close four billion miles. The increasing number of new cars on the road and the substantial rise in gasoline consumption, plus the fact that many summer

Dr. Walter C. Langsam Has Pleasant Memories Of His First Year As College Head

The Langsam family, nearing the end of their first year in Gettysburg, like this historic battlefield town and seat of Gettysburg College, of which the head of the family, Dr. Walter C. Langsam, is president, better than they had anticipated.

Dr. Langsam became president of the college a year ago today, coming here from the presidency of Wagner College, Staten Island, N. Y., a position he had held for seven years, 1945-52. The family, consisting of Dr. and Mrs. Langsam and their two sons, moved into the former Stahlke home, at Carlisle and W. Stevens Sts., and proceeded not only to "adopt" Gettysburg, but to be "adopted" by the faculty, student body and the residents of Gettysburg itself.

"We were sure we would like Gettysburg," Dr. Langsam said, as he recalled his first year as college prexy from behind his desk in the president's office in Glatfelter Hall today. "Now, after a year here, we find it even more delightful and more stimulating than we anticipated."

FIRE COMPANY'S CROWD TUESDAY HITS NEW HIGH

The Gettysburg Fire Department opened its annual festival and observance of the 90th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg Tuesday night at the Recreation Park, with the largest first-night throng in the history of these events.

Hundreds crowded the erstwhile softball field, where dozens of concessions were set up, from the kitchen pavilion to games, rides and refreshment stands.

A chair plane ride for older children and adults, and a small Ferris wheel and swing ride for kiddies were crowded throughout the evening. The Four LaForms, French aerialists and gymnasts, thrilled the crowds with two shows during the night on their high trapezes over the infield, and the games and refreshment stands did a record business.

Fireworks Display

The parking lot was filled to capacity with automobiles, facing the fire works display, which began at 10:45 p.m. and featured dozens of aerial bombs and bursting pyrotechnic displays and numerous set pieces.

The fireworks displays will be repeated Friday and Saturday nights. The LaForms will give two performances nightly through Saturday night.

Highlight of the celebration on Saturday will be a parade at 2 o'clock of soldiers from Indiantown Gap representing regiments which fought at Gettysburg 90 years ago, fire companies, veterans organizations and other marching organizations with bands and drum corps, dozens of floats and a large number of fire trucks.

Parade Saturday At 2

The parade will form on or near the Recreation Park, move promptly at 2 o'clock on W. High St. to Howard St. to Springs Ave. to Chambersburg St., around Lincoln Square, south on Baltimore St. to Breckenridge St., and return to the Recreation Park.

Immediately following the parade, the Fifth Division band from Indiantown Gap will give a concert, and an address will be delivered by Gen. George B. Barth, commanding officer of the division.

The commemorative program at the high school athletic field will take place at 6 p.m. Sunday and Vice President Nixon's address will be broadcast over a national radio network.

Complaining Guides Met With Counter Charges At Meeting Of Retail Merchants Tuesday

Replanning to complaints of several battlefield guides that volunteers who staff the Retail Merchants Association information booth in Lincoln Square are "unfair" to the guide service, members of the merchants' association Tuesday night charged that at least four of the guides who made the complaints are "trouble makers" themselves, treat tourists unfairly, and in two cases could be suspended on the basis of complaints in the hands of the merchants' association.

Charles B. Bender, former president of the Retail Merchants Association, listed the guides he said "were causing all the trouble," and "caused trouble last year," as Walter Reynolds, president of the Battlefield Guides Association; Harry Bumbaugh, William Shearer and Rufus Bushman. These four and two others, James Crouse and William Holtzworth, attended a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night.

Have Set of Instructions

At this meeting guides complained that the booth staff was "doing them injustice" by not recommending guides to tourists stopping at the information booth; that some of the booth staff were not properly trained; that they recommended only "certain places" for tourists to see, and that by giving tourists maps of the battlefield instead of recommending guides they deprived the guides of business.

N. A. Mellikages, president of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared at the Retail Merchants Association meeting to present the guides' complaints. "I am not here to defend them," he said. "I am presenting the matter because the Guides Association has memberships in the Chamber of Commerce. I think if all concerned get together, we can find a solution."

Replying to the allegation that members of the booth staff are not properly trained, Harold Reuning, president of the merchants' association, who presided at the meeting, held in the historical rooms of the Court House, said efforts were made to get the booth staff together for instruction periods. This was not possible, he said, so a set of instructions was prepared, approved by Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg National Military Park, and furnished to each booth attendant.

Had Suggested Sign

One of these instructions, Mr. Reuning said, is to "be sure to suggest that the tourist obtain a battlefield guide, so that the visitor will enjoy his trip more fully over the battlefield."

He cited the case of one booth attendant, who, he said, made eight telephone calls in an effort to obtain a guide for a party of tourists when there were none in the square. He said other booth attendants invariably recommend the employment of battlefield guides.

"These same guides complained all last summer," Mr. Bender declared. "Three times I approached Mr. Reynolds with the suggestion that the guides put up a sign on the information booth telling tourists the best way to see the battlefield was with a guide, and listing their rates. The offer was turned down."

Guides' Investment Small

"These guides haven't contributed a nickel. They have no investment here except a borough license and their uniforms."

Mr. Bender stressed his contention that "all the trouble" comes from four guides. Two others who attended the Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday night, he said, James Crouse and William (Continued on Page 3)

DRIEST JUNE IN 8 YEARS; ONLY 1.72 IN. OF RAIN

The driest June in eight years followed the wettest May in 10 years here and cut 1953's surplus of rainfall for the first six months to 6.48 inches.

More than two inches short of normal rainfall for June, the 1.72 inches that was measured here last month brought the total for the first six months of 1953 to 25.06 inches. June's 2.06-inch rainfall shortage made it the first "really dry" month this year. All of the earlier months but April had an excess of rain—and April was only a half inch short of normal.

June's aridity followed the wet month of May when 6.69 inches of rain fell here.

11 Days In 90's

Although the month just ended saw 11 days with high temperatures of 90 degrees or more, the average temperature for the 30-day period came very close to normal with cool periods at the beginning and near the middle of the month offsetting the two hot spells.

The average daily high reading here was 82.56 degrees and the average daily minimum was 58.96 degrees, making the month's average reading 70.76 degrees, which is only 36 degrees above normal June temperatures.

The peak for the month came Sunday, June 21, with a high of 97 degrees, two degrees short of the (Continued on Page 10)

EAST GERMANY'S REDS HALVING ARMY IN MOVE TO CONCILIATE

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany today was reported slashing in half its 125,000-man army which so signally failed to put down the recent workers' revolt.

The move appeared designed to free men and money for the Reds' announced new program to placate the East Germans with more consumer goods.

Reporting this, the Socialist-edited West Berlin newspaper Telegraf said over 60,000 of the Soviet-trained soldiers would be sent back to industrial jobs by July 15.

Falled Dismally
The East zone army failed dismally when it was sent into action against the June 17 revolt. After Russian armored forces intervened to put down the rebellion, German soldiers were put on police duty under Soviet command.

The force reportedly slated to be cut in half is the Kasernierte Volkspolizei (KVP), an organization separate from the 100,000-man Volkspolizei or people's police. The KVP is completely militarized and has undergone infantry training since 1949.

A vast reduction in armament expenditures had been ordered by East Zone Premier Otto Grotewohl's regime on the eve of the uprising. The cutback apparently will be carried out now despite the anti-Communist discontent still seething in East Germany.

To Free Craftsmen
The Telegraf said miners, skilled craftsmen and trained apprentices will be the first troops to shed the Russian-style olive green uniforms.

The government, in its new "butcher instead of guns" policy, counts on taking the equivalent of 500 million dollars a year from rearmament funds and investing it in workers' housing and consumer industries.

Several German soldiers have been executed and scores sent to long prison terms by Soviet military courts for disobedience during the revolt. A total of 467 troops and Red peoples' police deserted to West Berlin in June—an all-time record.

Called Unreliable
East Germany's military chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Vincenz Mueller, submitted a report to Soviet headquarters in East Berlin admitting the "unreliability" of his combat units.

But East Germany still was a big headache to the Communists today, amid reports of other workers' outbreaks in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The Russians eased—but did not lift—martial law in East Berlin, and continued turning back provincial cities to civilian administration. Grotewohl's jittery Cabinet was not yet strong enough, however, to exercise national authority.

Appeasement Steps
In its efforts to appease millions of enemies, the government:

1. Released 15 Protestant clergymen from jail and took the sentences of 15 others under review, with prospects they soon will regain freedom.

2. Promised an overhaul of the judicial system to establish "democratic" legal rights of citizens.

3. Began a drastic shakeup in the state chain store system to get more goods on sale at lower prices.

4. Spurred food deliveries to restive towns where supplies of margarine, vegetables and other staples have been exhausted.

5. Continued to stomp factory and labor meetings, confessing past oppression of the workers and claiming the government's "new course" would raise living standards.

Pleds For Able
State Employees
A plea for the appointment of able Pennsylvanians in state jobs with their abilities rather than their political connections being the determining factor in their selection was voiced by Assemblyman Francis Worley in a speech before the lower house at Harrisburg this morning at 1 o'clock.

Speaking near the end of the night session, Worley said in part: "It behooves us to discover ways of organizing and directing government to ways that are efficient and democratic. I realize the task is difficult but I refuse to believe Pennsylvania genius is not equal to it. We have had enough, indeed too much, mediocrity and incompetence in Washington and Harrisburg."

"This state has a large number of people trained in law, political science, and public administration; it has a body of citizens willing to support efficient and democratic government. What is needed is willingness on the part of its leaders to mobilize the resources of the Commonwealth and put them to work by appointing able persons who are specially trained for government service instead of persons whose only qualification is that they are a friend of a politician."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cries of "blank check" and "giveaway" followed rough going today for President Eisenhower's request for blanket authority to use government-owned farm surpluses to combat famine abroad.

SOUTH KOREAN DRIVE THROWN INTO REVERSE

By FORREST EDWARDS

SEOUL, Thursday, July 2 (AP) — A sudden onslaught by up to 2,000 Chinese Reds today overran 1,600-foot Lookout Mountain, throwing into reverse a South Korean drive on the blazing East-Central Front.

The South Koreans had driven the Chinese from Lookout in vicious night-time fighting and were mopping up pockets of Reds when the counterattack came at daybreak.

Earlier, U. S. advisers at the front had said the South Koreans were well entrenched on Lookout, whose summit overlooks roads leading southward to the Kumsong River Valley.

Fifth Day of Battle
Sketchy reports from the front said the Chinese surged back with from 1,000 to 2,000 men and drove the Koreans off the height by 6:15 a. m.

The South Koreans had fought well up until that time, rolling back some 4,000 Chinese around Lookout and the ridge lines to the east and west where the Reds had driven southward as far as six miles in about two weeks toward the Kumsong River Valley with its vital net of roads.

It was the fifth day of battle for Lookout, and both sides had committed thousands of reinforcements.

ARMY ANGRILY DENIES UNITS LACKED "AMMO"

SEOUL (AP) — The Army quoted generals and foot soldiers today in an angry denial that two Pennsylvania soldiers died because they lacked ammunition or armored vests.

One soldier was killed 1,000 yards behind the front when he was hit by Communist mortar or artillery fire, the Army said. The other was killed defending out-post Harry on the Central Front and was wearing an armored vest, it said.

The army issued a 4½ page report studded with quotes from comrades of the two soldiers and their commanding officers.

Two From Allentown
The two soldiers were Pvt. Kenneth C. Lease Jr. of the Seventh Infantry Division and Cpl. Robert G. Scheirer of the Third Division. Both soldiers were from Allentown, Pa.

Lease wrote home the day before he was killed—June 19—that ammunition had been taken from his unit because of the expected signing of an armistice.

Scheirer wrote home the day before he was killed on June 11 that "armored vests were taken away. We were told we would not need them any more."

In Allentown, Scheirer's family said they now considered their son's death a battle casualty.

ROCKEFELLER'S WIFE STAYS ON

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Millionaire Winthrop Rockefeller's estranged wife, who says her "worthless" husband's trust fund wasn't "worth the paper it's printed on," has a roof over her head for the time being—a plush, 15-room Park Ave. apartment.

Lawyers for the separated couple made almost simultaneous announcements here and in New York yesterday that Mrs. Rockefeller, the former Barbara (Bobo) Sears, could live in the 15-room apartment—at least for the present.

The 40-year-old heir to the Rockefeller millions, and his wife, the daughter of an immigrant coal miner, separated shortly after their son Winthrop Paul was born.

Mrs. Rockefeller moved into the apartment over the week end from an Indiana farm. About three weeks before that Rockefeller moved out of the apartment and announced his intention to make his permanent residence here.

Death Blow To Rebellion
"But it was only to open again on the following morning with still more dreadful ferocity. This was the decisive day. Each had brought to work his entire force, along the whole line, extending from Wolf Hill on our right, to a point east of the Emmitsburg Road, about a mile from town."

He then described additional details of the battle and concluded "The enemy is terribly punished for his reckless villainy in thus attempting to make the North the future battle ground. Thus we hope that upon our own soil and at our own homes has been given the death blow to the rebellion."

"One feature of this invasion has been peculiarly gratifying to every lover of the Union. Those who have been notorious sympathizers with the enemy have been required to give tangible and practical evidence of their sympathy. They have been by great odds the heaviest sufferers. Truly there is a God in Heaven."

"The House of Representatives hereby expresses its sympathy to the two surviving members of his immediate family, Miss Mabel Gettler, W. King St., Littlestown, and Mrs. Edgar A. Miller, Gettysburg, and the clerk of the House is hereby requested to send copies of this resolution to them," the resolution said.

Governors Sign Waterfront Bills

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The way was clear today for New York and New Jersey to sweep strong-arm racketeering and crooked labor bosses from the piers of New York harbor.

Gov. Dewey yesterday signed unprecedented legislation giving the state control of the New York side of the waterfront.

A few hours before, in Trenton, N. J., Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll had approved identical bills authorizing a bi-state port commission with broad investigative and regulatory powers over the docks.

"SANDY CITIES"

When a child is at the seashore . . . he builds cities in the sand . . . and around them he arranges forts . . . so all the buildings stand . . . and as waves destroy his structures . . . he repeats his task once more . . . with the hope to keep the ocean . . . from the city's sandy door . . . this goes on for many hours . . . but it's always just the same . . . even though the fort is sturdy . . . waves of water he can't tame . . . I admire and I study . . . kids who try so hard to do . . . things like building sandy cities . . . with the will to follow through . . . for they are the future leaders . . . who know not when they're beat . . . and some day they'll build our cities . . . out of steel and strong concrete.

Secret Parley Of U.N. Leaders In Far East Is Called Today

SEOUL (AP)—The U. N. Far East commander called a secret conference of his top military leaders in Korea today as officials both here and in Washington made it plain the Allies plan to go ahead with a truce whether or not South Korea co-operates.

Washington quarters predicted a showdown within 24 hours with stubborn old President Syngman Rhee over his refusal to accept a truce which leaves his country divided.

President Eisenhower's special truce emissary, meanwhile, postponed a conference with Rhee today.

"Door Not Closed"

An authoritative source here revealed that Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, Eisenhower's truce troubleshooter, has made concessions to Rhee in five conferences. He said "the door is not closed" to an agreement on a truce.

Robertson reportedly agreed to a possible joint U. S.-Korean walk-out from a post-armistice peace conference if the Reds use the talks to try and win advantages they could not win on the battlefield.

And there were reports that a draft of a proposed mutual defense pact between the U. S. and Korea has been drawn. Such a pact is Rhee's No. 1 demand.

Makes New Demands

The source added, however, that after declaring that "all my demands have been met," Rhee made fresh demands which have blocked an agreement.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made it plain in Washington Tuesday that the U. S. intends to sign an armistice with the Communists even though Rhee may refuse to co-operate. And in Seoul a high official declared, "We are going ahead with an armistice, undeterred."

Gen. Mark W. Clark did not say why he summoned top air, naval and ground commanders to the secret conference in Tokyo.

His headquarters said, "There will be no announcement as to the subjects discussed."

Here And There

News Collected At Random

vacationists will use the three-day weekend as the beginning or end of their regular vacation periods, threaten a heavy death toll unless extra care is used, the Council warned.

The Council is coordinating a nationwide campaign to hold down the holiday toll, and 161 national organizations have joined in the united effort. The campaign is designed to increase public awareness of the extra holiday hazards and the extra caution needed to overcome them. It also seeks to help officials traffic officers and safety leaders in their efforts to reduce traffic accidents over the Fourth.

Urging public support of the campaign, Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council, said excessive speed contributes to one out of three fatal traffic accidents.

"Speed control is the personal responsibility of every driver," he said. "A heavy foot on the throttle can mean a heavy heart for someone."

Advising an early start for holiday motor trips to reduce the temptation to speed, the Council offered these tips to drivers:

1. Obey common sense as well as legal speed limits.
2. Keep your car under control at all times, so you can stop quickly if circumstances demand.
3. Keep fresh and alert at the wheel. You can't make split-second decisions if you're tired and fuzzy.
4. Keep a safe, clear stopping distance between you and the car ahead. Watch cars behind in your rear-view mirror.
5. Signal for turns well before turning. Avoid abrupt stops.
6. Slow down at sundown and be sure you can stop within the range of your lights.

Nice Dictators

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I like dictators, young and small, Being rough with me. And glad I am, to one and all, Subject to be.

I like them in their prettiest best, But proud I am To see them with their faces mused With strawberry jam.

Tyrants I like with curly hair, Though mine is gray. To them—their throne the old high chair— Homage I'll pay.

I am, and will remain, a fool, As oft I'm told, For liking the tyrannic rule Of a two-year-old.

Complaining

Holtzworth, he classed as "good guides," not involved as alleged "trouble makers," who, he said, were "roped into" attending the chamber meeting.

"Out of 53 guides we have four who are causing all the trouble," he said. "With two we have a good bit which we could probably turn over to the Park Service for suspension."

Report "Short Trips"

Mr. Bender said he thought "public opinion ought to decide who is right in this issue. We have 100 volunteers working in the booth. Some may give the wrong answers, but so do the guides."

"The Park Department says a guide, to charge $4, must keep a tourist or party on the battlefield from 1½ to two hours. We know of some who make trips only 45 minutes."

Mr. Reuning pointed out that the booth is staffed by volunteers who include college professors, school teachers, college graduates and others of similar caliber.

Some Specific Charges

Among specific charges made against guides at Tuesday night's meeting were the following:

That a guide refused to tell a tourist the location of the Virginia monument. The information was later given at the booth.

That an attendant at the booth was told by a guide that "if the merchants association doesn't take you out of the booth, I'll burn it down."

That a tourist party had asked the location of the battlefield and had been sent out York St. by a guide.

That some guides are "abusive" not only to members of the booth staff but to tourists.

Guide Business Is Better

That guides discourage a $3 trip or refuse to take parties at this rate. "We have a file of cards which tourists have signed," Mr. Bender said. "The comments that have been made on these cards are unsolicited."

Mr. Bender said the Retail Merchants had checked with the park service last year and found that the guide business was better than the year before. A check, he said, would be made on this year's guide business.

"People who cannot afford or who do not want guides cannot be forced to take one," he said. "The battlefield belongs to the public, not to the guides."

No Guides Present

Staff members are told, he said, to "Remember that you are Gettysburg to the stranger." He said: "I think the guides should remember this too."

Seventeen persons attended the merchants association meeting. There were no guides present.

It was voted to postpone the monthly luncheon meetings at the Hotel Gettysburg until September. The next meeting of the association will be held July 28.

TV MEASURE FACES DEFEAT

HARRISBURG (AP) — A bill to place regulation of television cable firms under the Public Utilities Commission was given little chance today of passing the 1953 General Assembly.

Chairman Allen M. Gibson (R-Warren) of the House Public Utilities Committee said he thought the bill needed "further study."

"In my opinion there is a good question whether TV cables would qualify under the public utilities law," Gibson told a newsman.

Rep. Adam T. Bower (R-Northumberland) said he introduced the bill to hit at "some companies who charge excessive rates."

Gibson said, however, that "there is a difference between a purely entertainment medium and a regular communication system. This business is a new one and its conditions are constantly changing."

"I think we should let the question rest for this session and if the problem is still there we can decide it in two years."

Some companies have erected community antenna in television fringe areas and brought TV into homes via a cable strung on power poles. Subscribers are charged an installation charge and a monthly charge.

New Heavyweight Champion

Madison Square Garden Bowl, New York, June 30 (AP) — With one sweep of a paw that must have felt like a cobblestone wrapped in a leather sack, huge Primo Carnera, once a freak in a circus sideshow, knocked out Jack Sharkey in six rounds Thursday night to win the Heavyweight championship of the world after being belted all over the premises for the greater part of five rounds.

It was a stunning ending to a savage fight that tore through the battle part of the garden's big arena on Long Island, an ending as amazing to the scant crowd of 40,000 as the knockout Max Baer scored over Max Schmeling in the first of the season's heavyweight extravaganzas.

Even in the sixth there was no hint of impending disaster. Sharkey bobbed in, found his opening and flung a long, crashing right to Carnera's temple.

The massive Italian pulled back. Then he lifted his tremendous right fist to the champion's jaws as they came to grips. The punch was a short uppercut inside as they were on the ropes.

Sharkey crumpled to the floor by the ropes, stretched flat on his face, as the crowd came to its feet with one long, amazed roar.

As Referee Arthur Donovan picked up the count, Sharkey never stirred. His seconds leaped in and dragged the beaten champion to his corner, still apparently in a daze.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE NATION'S BOYHOOD I'd say, should service be the test The Lord above employs, They serve both God and country best

Who give their hearts to boys, To take them from the streets and then With training that endures Return them to the world as men, Our way of life insures.

This saving many a talent rare That left untrained were lost, With courage for the right to dare At such a little cost, So much is done by evil men That brotherhood destroys, We serve both God and country when We give our hearts to boys.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

STREETS

Streets have a personality all their own. My imagination works overtime when I walk about them in a strange city. Boston perhaps may be said to have the most curious entangling streets of any city on this continent. I have started from one and found myself back later in the same spot half an hour later! I have heard it said that when they began to map out the streets in this interesting city they merely improved the old cow paths!

The streets of San Francisco, Charleston, S. C., and New Orleans are most fascinating. They are so drenched in historic lore. You are walking through history as you engage yourself on a personal walking tour. I recall a street in Boston up an alley from where the famous Old Corner Book Shop used to be. It was so short and stubby that Bill Nye called it "a short, thick-set street."

Whenever I go to a city I always like to take a stroll through its streets. Business streets are largely the same, but when you get where the people live they are different. You then begin to measure the civic and cultural aspect of the town. Trees, gardens, flowers, and well kept lawns. Then you wander a few streets in a different direction and a different character is changed. I found this true in Honolulu, an intriguing city.

Virginia Woolf once wrote a charming little book which she called "Street Haunting." It could be called a new kind of hobby, this street haunting, and walking into shops and pleasant places on the tours. Once I turned to a short, almost hidden street in Honolulu and came upon a great overhanging tree where Robert Louis Stevenson and his "Princess" used to sit and talk. Something new is always turning up as you walk or stroll among streets.

In San Antonio I went for a walk with a friend some years ago, and we came upon a tiny church where it was said many miracles were performed. There were cards with the names of people who had been cured all over the walls. Streets teach.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Views."

British People Stand To Lose Rallying Point And Shield If Churchill's Public Life Ends

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill had been at the heart of the world so long it was hard to accept the sudden news that he had to take a month's rest, which meant his clock was running down.

Information from Britain about his condition has been vague. Fatigue, it was said. So he may improve and return to his duties. Or he may not. And if he does not the English-speaking people have lost a rallying-point and a shield.

He had stood equally indomitable against the darkness of fascism and the medievalism of communism. In his own eloquence and courage he symbolized the British character.

He's A Genius

More than that he symbolized the indestructible and unerring human character which rises to its fullest development in a free society, for which Churchill fought against the enslaving tyranny of right and left.

He was a genius, born in an island which has produced more than its share of geniuses who had character and courage and eloquence. But the vitality of any nation is not unlimited. History is full of nations which lost theirs.

It is possible that a great man, by sheer force of will and leadership, can pull a whole people, even a tired people, up to a height, unity and determination they could not have achieved without him.

Great Unanswered Question

It is also possible that a man who appeared to be providing supreme leadership, like Churchill, was only reflecting the tremendous will of his people who gave him popular support because he so truly represented them.

How much of Britain's achievements these past 14 years was due to Churchill and how much to the British people themselves may remain one of the unanswered questions of history.

The answer may be found if Churchill cannot return to his old position of leadership. For that would be a test of the British people. He was such a towering figure no one of his stature is in sight to take his place.

Must Find New Leader

The British people must find from among themselves new and younger leadership. If they still have their great and ancient vitality undiminished it will prove itself in their ability, under new leadership, to retain their stability in a fast-changing world and even prosper through the changes.

In Churchill's lifetime the British fought two world wars, saw their empire fall apart and themselves descend from a truly No. 1 world power to a power second to that of the United States and Russia.

Still, as a people, they remained intact, avoided chaos and confusion, and stood firm against the two powers, Germany and Russia, which they knew would have destroyed the freedom they had spent centuries obtaining.

What Direction?

The post-Churchill leadership, to be successful at all, must have popular support. But what direction will it take: Left or right? Churchill is leader of the Conservative party, which had been beaten by the Labor party after the war and

Surprising Phillies Played Best Ball In National League In June; Yankees Lose Eighth Straight

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers stole most of the headlines but the surprising Philadelphia Phillies played the best baseball in the National League in June.

A lot of the experts wrote off the Phils' pennant chances when Curt Simmons ran his toe through a lawn mower early in the month. The star left-hander appeared in only one game in June and he was beaten in that one.

Despite this gaping hole in their slim pitching staff, the Phils won 17 out of 30 games in June for a .567 pace, a notch ahead of Brooklyn's 15-12 record. Cincinnati had the second best won-and-lost record, 18-14.

Simmons Is Returning

The Phils opened the month in fourth place, 3½ games behind the league - leading Dodgers. Today they're still in fourth place, three games behind, but with the good news that Simmons hopes to be back in action within a week.

The whole first division in the National League looks like almost a carbon copy of a month ago. At that time Brooklyn topped Milwaukee by half a game with St. Louis 2½ games away in third place. Exactly the same situation exists today. Only the Phils have improved.

In the American League the Yankees, who ended the month with an eight-game losing streak which still is unbroken, had the best overall record. They won 19 games, 18 of them in a row, and lost 10. But second-place Cleveland was almost as good, winning 19 while losing 11. On June 1 the Indians were 4½ behind. Today they're five back.

The Yankees lost their eighth straight last night at Boston, 5-4, when Sammy White blasted a home run into the left-field screen with a man on base and two out in the ninth inning. The longest Yankee losing streak of recent times is nine games in 1945. The club record is 13.

Braves End Streak

The Braves snapped their losing string at eight games as Eddie Mathews homered in the 10th inning of the second game of a two-night double-header at Cincinnati. The Braves won, 6-4. They dropped the first game, 6-3.

At Brooklyn the Phillies needed 10 innings to edge the Dodgers, 10-9. Chicago beat the Cardinals, 10-3, and Pittsburgh whipped the New York Giants, 3-1.

In other American League action Cleveland defeated Detroit, 6-4, in a game cut to five innings by a cloudburst. St. Louis nipped the Chicago White Sox, 4-2, and Washington beat Philadelphia, 3-0.

Yanks Led Twice

The Yankees led twice at Boston and after Yogi Berra homered in the top of the ninth it looked for sure if their bad luck had run out. But Hoot Evers opened the Boston ninth with a single and after two outs White blasted Allie Reynolds' first pitch to him all the way.

The double bill at Cincinnati turned into a home run hitting contest. In the first game Andy Seminick, Jim Greengrass and Bob Borkowski hit him for Cincinnati while Joe Adcock homered for the Redlegs started fifth in the second game when Gus Bell connected with a runner on base in the first inning. Milwaukee caught up in the eighth as Mathews slammed one with a mate aboard and Sid Gordon followed him with a bases-empty cut. Mathews finished it in the 10th.

Used 34 Players

The Dodgers-Phillies contest was a typical Brooklyn affair with 34 players—10 of them pitchers—seeing action. Five hurlers toiled for each side with Jim Konstanty gaining the victory over Joe Black, who threw to only two men.

Black was sent in at the start of the 10th after the Dodgers had rallied to tie with two runs in the ninth. He was nipped for a single and a walk and was hurriedly replaced by Bob Milliken, who walked Bill Nicholson on purpose and then gave up a bases-loaded single to bonus rookie Ted Kazanski. Nicholson was squeezed home on a bunt and a Dodger rally fell a run short in the last of the 10th.

Art Houtteman, who broke into the majors in Detroit, came back wearing a Cleveland uniform to haunt his home town folks last night. The Tigers got to him for four runs, including a three-run homer by Johnny Pesky, but they weren't enough to stop the determined Indians, who hammered Ned Garver for pairs of runs in the second, third and fourth innings.

White Sox Fall

The White Sox, with a chance to gain another full game on the stumbling Yankees, ran afoul of a 12-hit St. Louis attack which saddened the 35,825 fans who had come out to welcome home their stalwarts, who won 11 out of 13 in the East.

Bob Porterfield was the whole show at Philadelphia. He scattered seven hits and insured his ninth victory with a two-run homer in the ninth inning for Washington.

A quartet of Cardinal pitchers starting with young Stu Miller proved no puzzle to the Chicago Cubs, who banged out 18 hits, including Ralph Kiner's 16th home run.

Ruben Gomez, rookie pitching star of the Giants' successful Western trip, gave up an inside-the-park home run to Pittsburgh leadoff man Cal Abrams in the first inning and his mates could never get him even. Murry Dickson scattered six New York hits in posting his seventh triumph.

Fiscel Wins First In Kitty League

Marlin "Skip" Fiscel won his first start in the Kitty League last Saturday as he pitched the Hopkinsville, Ky., team to a 13-6 victory over Jackson, according to word received by his parents, Borough Officer and Mrs. Ralph Fiscel, Baltimore St.

After a shaky start in which he yielded two runs in each the first and second innings, the young right-hander hurled six scoreless innings until permitting another pair of runs in the ninth.

Fiscel is the property of the Philadelphia Athletics and was sent to Hopkinsville, who has a working agreement with the Athletics, for seasoning.

CURT SIMMONS READY TO GO

BROOKLYN (AP)—Curt Simmons, sidelined for a month with a severed toe, expects to be back in action around the Fourth of July.

The youthful southpaw star of the Philadelphia Phillies said today the left toe, horribly lacerated by an electric rotary mower June 4, is nearly completely healed leaving no permanent disability.

"Another few days and I'll be ready to pitch," said Simmons. "Steve (Manager O'Neill) is sort of leaving it up to me. I told him last Saturday in St. Louis, I thought I'd be ready to pitch in a week or 10 days. Of course, it's up to him, but I'm ready to work this weekend if he wants me to."

O'Neill was not as optimistic as Simmons but agreed that Simmons had made a remarkably fast recovery from an injury that originally was feared might keep the 22-year-old speed-baller out until August.

Mrs. Shulley, Heldt Win In Golf Play

Mrs. J. Albert Shulley won the 18-hole blind bogey golf tournament conducted Tuesday at the Gettysburg Country Club when Ladies' Day was observed. Mrs. Roy W. Gifford was second.

In the nine-hole affair first place honors went to Mrs. Charles Heldt and second place to Mrs. Paul Knox. In both events drivers were used in putting.

Westminster Site For Cards' Camp

Veteran St. Louis Cardinal scout Ollie Vanek and Frank Crespi have been named to conduct tryout sessions at City Play ground in Westminster, Md., on Monday and Tuesday, July 6 and 7.

"Vanek and Crespi won't be looking for the finished product at Westminster," William Walsingham Jr., Cardinal vice-president, said.

"These scouts will be looking for young players between 17 and 23, who in their opinion, can eventually be developed into big league players through our farm system," he said. "Both Vanek and Crespi are expert judges of young ball players."

Workouts each day will get underway promptly at 10 a.m. Players should bring their own shoes, glove and a uniform.

FIRING BEGINS TODAY IN 35TH PGA TOURNEY

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—Something new has been added this year to the Professional Golfers Association Championship, which always has its own unique flavor. And the stay-at-home club pros who are the main support of the organization aren't sure they like it.

The 35th PGA tournament, starting today at the toughened-up Birmingham Country Club course, still is the club pros' big party. But when they set the dates over the busy July 4 weekend and gave architect Robert Trent Jones the job of stiffening the course, some of the players began squawking.

Many found it difficult to leave their clubs on the busy weekend and some couldn't make it at all. And they shuddered at the mention of Jones did to nearby Oakland Hills for the 1951 National Open.

Looks Normal Today

But as the firing began today, everything looked pretty normal. Practice rounds showed that the narrow fairways and rolling greens can be mastered. The rough had been trimmed a bit and the fairway widened on one hole—the ninth. It was explained that this would allow misplaced drives to roll into a couple of big traps instead of sticking in the deep grass.

And the favorites were about the same as for any tournament, even though some of the younger tournament stars aren't eligible for the PGA and a couple of well-known players dropped out.

Long-hitting Sam Snead, three times winner of the PGA title, and Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who played in this event for the first time last year, were most frequently mentioned. But the drive-and-wedge proportions of the Birmingham course brought the names of such short hitters as Ted Kroll, Jerry Barber, George Fazio and defending champion Jimmie Turnesa into the discussions.

Musial Leads Kiner For Fielding Post

CHICAGO (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals is a strong choice over the Chicago Cubs' Ralph Kiner for the National League left field post as the annual All-Star Baseball Poll nears its end.

Today's compilation showed Musial has received 523,417 votes so far, Kiner 504,226.

The poll, which began June 12, ends at midnight Friday. Winners will be on the starting American and National League lineups for the 20th inter-league game at Cincinnati July 14.

number employed, 13th among all counties in the amount of wages paid. Franklin was 34th in amount of workers and 39th in wages paid. Adams was 43rd in number of workers and 49th in total amount of wages paid.

The value of production of products in Adams County was listed as $53,501,400, as compared to $501,846,700 for York County, which stands 11th in the state and $99,548,900 for Franklin County which stands 35th among the 67 counties. Capital invested in industry in Adams County was listed as $13,872,300, as compared to $137,174,500 for York County, which ranks 12th in the state and $29,446,400 for Franklin, which is listed as 37th.

Fifty-three counties collect more taxes than Adams County, according to the tables of statistics in the Department of Internal Affairs bulletin. They list the county as collecting $139,512 in taxes during 1951 at a total cost of $5,377. The lowest county in the state was Forest, which needed only $27,619 to carry on its county government. York county collected $628,079 and Franklin $245,681.

Nearly A Million In Taxes

Boroughs in 44 counties collected more taxes than did the 11 in Adams County, according to the report. Collections of taxes by boroughs in Adams totaled $98,000 according to the report, with the collection made at a cost of $3,601.

In 46 counties that school boards needed more taxes than the amount required to operate the Adams County schools. Here the total taxes collected by the schools was $546,521, with the cost of collection being $20,911.

The tables printed in the Departmental bulletin show Adams County taxes paid, in 1951, a total of $784,033 for county, borough and school district taxes. Since that figure does not include taxes levied by the institution districts and by the townships, it appears that Adams County paid approximately $1,000,000 for the operation of their local government during the year 1951.

Next Sunday's Game

All-Star game at Bonneauville.

Taneytown scored three times in the first inning and added three more runs in the sixth inning to defeat Hunterstown 6-2 in a South Penn League game Tuesday evening at Taneytown and thereby moved into a tie with Bonneauville for the league lead.

Following Taneytown's victory it was decided that Bonneauville will be the site of the annual All-Star game, next Sunday. Bonneauville's team will oppose a team composed of two players each from the other member outfits.

Hunterstown outlast Taneytown in Tuesday's tilt 8-6 but could not bunt his blows. Bill Heyser and Bruce Miller divided the pitching for Hunterstown and gave up three hits apiece. D. Signor, Hunterstown's first baseman, was the only hitter able to collect as many as two safeties.

within its four walls. Last fall he had time to attend all of the home football games, and the college basketball games.

"I've decided that I have now become old enough to play golf," he said, with the familiar Langsam twinkle in his eye. "I belong to the Gettysburg Country Club, and I've played golf once. My partners were very patient men. My score? I didn't keep score."

He admitted, however, that, like most beginners and "dubs," "one good shot was followed by three that were not so good."

Dr. Langsam had two hobbies before he came to Gettysburg, ice skating and handball. He said there hadn't been the kind of weather in Gettysburg in his year here conducive to the former sport, and that he "didn't have time for handball."

Baseball "Feud"

Dr. Langsam has another "hobby." He's a Dodger fan.

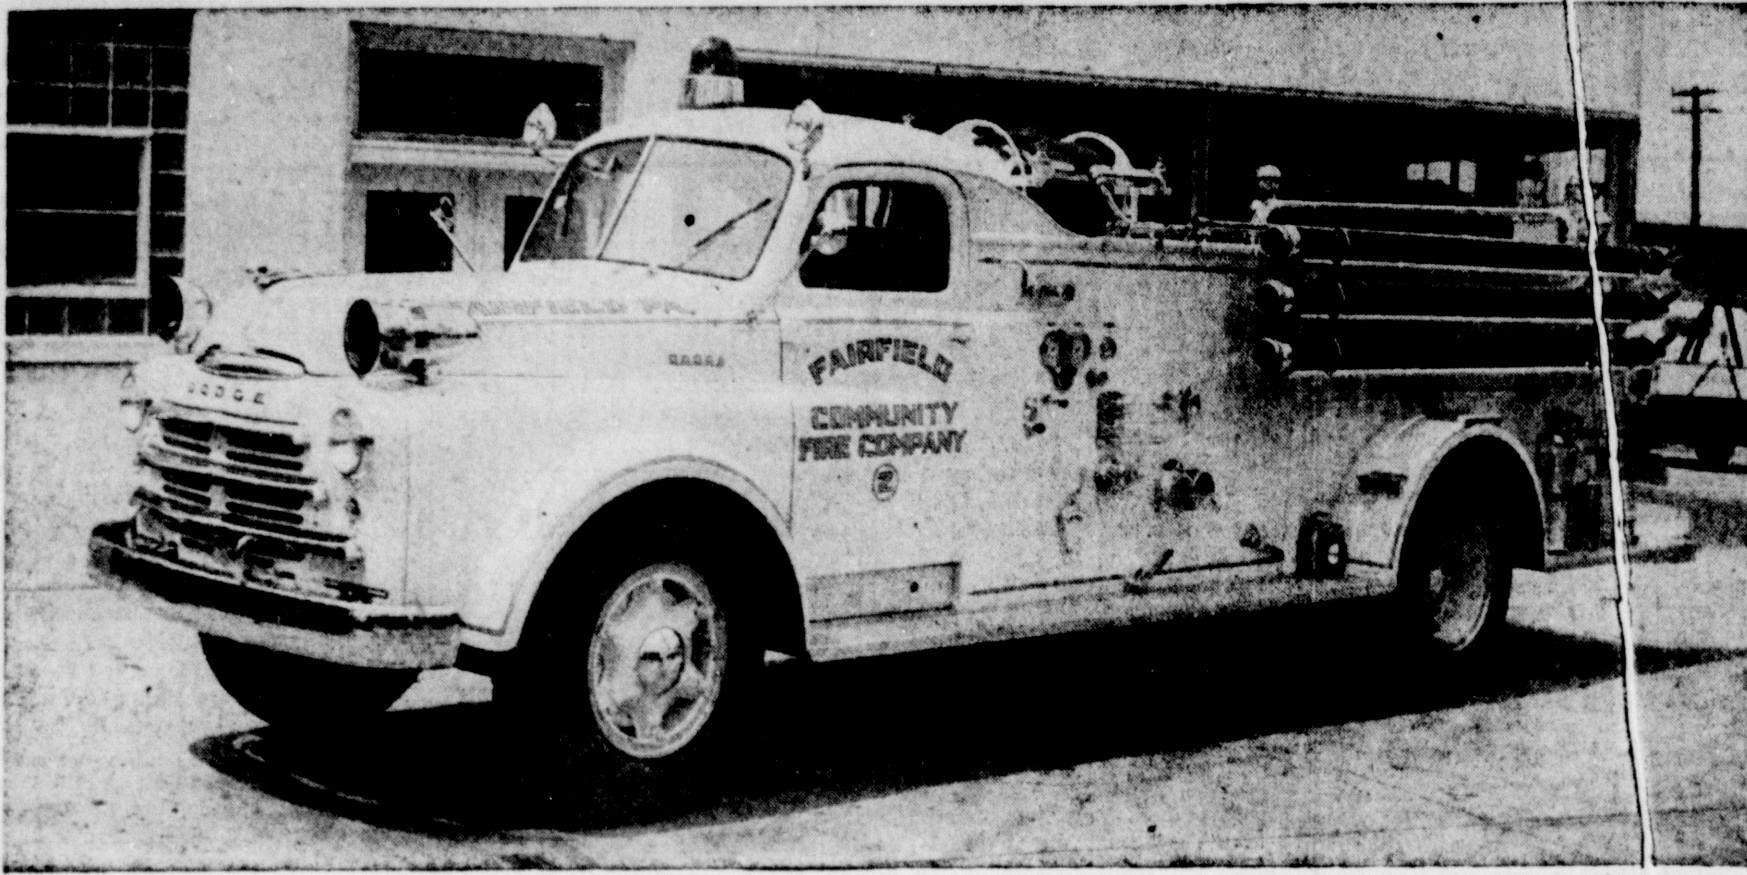

"I've been a Dodger fan ever since I was a boy, and I'm still one," he said. "My son, Geoffrey, is a Giant fan, so we have a perpetual baseball 'feud' at our home." Geoffrey, 16, is the youngest of the two Langsam sons, who has just completed his sophomore year at Gettysburg High School.

Another son, Walter Elton Langsam, 18, will be a sophomore at Haverford next fall, and plans to go on to Harvard.

Dr. Langsam grew up in New York City, and spent most of his life there before coming to Gettysburg, except for six years when he was a professor at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., and 18 months in the Office of

Fairfield Has Modern Fire-Fighting Equipment

Fairfield Conflagration Of 1908 Pointed Out Need For A Well-Equipped Fire Company

Miss Margaret Peters, a native of Fairfield, and step-sister of Mrs. S. L. Allison of Fairfield, who went to Baltimore to accept a position, opened her copy of a Baltimore newspaper on the morning of September 16, 1908, and read that fire resulting from youngsters playing in a barn had swept her native village, completely destroying seven stables, or barns, and setting fire to several homes.

Thirty-five houses, barns and other buildings were on fire at the same time during the height of the conflagration, a major catastrophe in the history of Fairfield. There was no fire company at that time, no siren to summon firemen and no equipment but buckets with which to fight fires.

The fire company was not organized until 1921, with S. L. Allison as the first chief. Cries of "fire" and the ringing of the church bells summoned every able-bodied person in Fairfield. Women and children pumped and carried water to the men who were fighting the ever-spreading flames. Buckets and ladders were hastily assembled. Shingle roofs were tinder-dry. Wells and cisterns were soon pumped dry also. A strong northeast wind fanned the flames, and carried burning embers far from their source. The destruction of the entire village was threatened.

Mothers thrust their children anyone they chanced to meet, while they ran back to their homes to collect valuable papers, jewels and the few belongings they could carry. Someone remembered that Mrs. Mary Hoffman, suffering with a broken hip, lay abed in her home close to the fire and carried her to safety. Horses, cattle, pigs and chickens were freed from their stalls and pens to wander where they would.

Lookouts On Roofs
Mrs. Peter Shively, an 83-year-old resident, was visiting a neighbor when she learned of the fire. She ran to her home and collected all the buckets she could find and joined the bucket brigade. Mrs. Julia Beaver assigned herself to a lookout post on the roof of her home. From this vantage point she saw a flaming ember land on the roof of the Ephraim Swope house on Main St. She sent out the alarm and the structure was saved.

About this time a telephone call was received at the hotel across the street from the Swope house from a former resident, living in Waynesboro, asking how "the fire is coming." He was told "like h—" and nothing more. The residents were too busy to talk on the telephone. He hitched his horse to his carriage and drove at full speed from Waynesboro.

As one fire after another broke out, the residents, some of them at least, became panic-stricken. There were those who thought that the very earth under their feet was hot and the world was coming to an end. Furniture lined the streets. In one instance, sparks fell on a basket of clothes which had been hurriedly taken from a clothesline. The sparks set fire to the clothes.

Seven Barns Destroyed
A young woman collected what she thought were the most valuable articles in her home and carried them around in her apron. When the excitement died down she found she had filled her apron with trinkets of little value. One of the men of the town met his wife, and said: "Lady, don't you think it best that you go home?" It was not until much later that he discovered that it was to his own wife he had given this advice.

Among the other barns destroyed were those owned by James Corwell, J. V. Neely, Daniel Mickley, George McGlaughlin, James Frock, and James Hoffman.

Directly in the path of the fire when the Neely and Mickley stables were burning stood the Landis barn, important historically because it was the barn built by the town's founder, Squire Miller, on his "plantation." It was watched carefully for sparks or bits of burning debris that might be carried to the roof or strawstack in front of the barn. None reached it. Tall locust trees that lined the alley served as protection for the 111-year-old landmark and it was saved.

The apparatus shown in the picture, a 1950 Dodge 500-gallon per minute pumping capacity with a 500-gallon booster tank, represents a far cry from the bucket brigades which fought the Great Fire of 1908 which nearly destroyed Fairfield. This truck, a 1938 Chevrolet 350-gallon pumper, and a new piece of equipment to be obtained through Civil Defense matching funds place Fairfield in the first rank of preparedness. The Fairfield Community Fire Co. has a membership of 150 volunteers ready at all times to come to the aid of their neighbors, when fire or other disaster threatens.

Grim Reminder
The holocaust of 1908, the worst catastrophe in the history of Fairfield, occurred on September 15. It served then, and it still serves as grim reminder that without adequate facilities for fire-fighting, adequate water supply and eternal vigilance, the material possessions and the savings of a lifetime can be destroyed within minutes.

George M. Neely recorded in his dairy under date of September 16, 1908 that the people, reviewing the events and destruction of the preceding day, and realizing that the first was brought under control only when evening came and the wind subsided, were awe-stricken and fearful for the future. The main topic of conversation concerned a water supply system.

On that day they probably recalled with regret that no action has been taken on a petition presented to the borough council as early as January, 1898, asking for the privilege of laying water mains and supply lines for Fairfield. In 1906 a forward-looking step was taken when the town purchased two springs in the Jack's Mountain area, but there it stopped, and on September 15, the date of the great fire, Fairfield's only water supply came from wells and cisterns which each property owner maintained.

Still No Water Mains
The situation as regards water supply has changed but little in the years since. Today Fairfield must depend for water on that carried in the booster tanks of its two modern fire trucks, plus what can be pumped from wells and cistern and from a pond on South St.

The formation of a volunteer fire company in 1921 has given the town much greater protection than was ever afforded before. Mr. Allison, the first chief, received his training and baptism of fire in the holocaust of September 15, 1908. The first fire apparatus was a small, hand-drawn affair carrying hose and small chemical tanks. Not until 1926 was anything better obtained.

The Fairfield Community Fire Co. today has an active membership of 150, and two modern trucks, a 1938 Chevrolet 350-gallon pumper and a 1950 Dodge 500-gallon pumper. It expects to add a third piece of apparatus soon, through matching funds from the government's Civil Defense Administration. The fire company purchased the community hall in 1945 and incorporated in 1946. It has an active auxiliary which assists it in its carnivals and other affairs.

Officers Of Company
Paul (Bing) Myers is president of the fire company; Raymond Myers, first vice president; Earl Musselman, second vice president; James Weikert, secretary-treasurer; Edgar Glenn, financial secretary; Harper Hiner, chief and Howard Reindollar, assistant chief.

A siren calls firemen now when fire breaks out anywhere in the territory served by the Fairfield firemen, but years ago there were four "gangs" located in different sections of the town. These were large steel rims which were struck with hammers to announce a fire and summon help. One was located on the former Reformed Church lot opposite the Fairfield Garage; another near Harry Brown's barn on Water St.; still another in the alley near the Russell Summers house and the fourth at the IOOF hall.

The first person to discover a fire either ran or sent someone to the steel rim, mounted on a pole and crossarm, nearest, to sound the alarm.

Fairfield's 28th annual homecoming celebration and firemen's carnival will be held on the baseball field adjoining the community building July 2, 3 and 4.

The affair annually brings hundreds of visitors and former residents to the "Valley of Carroll's Delight," which in its first years was called "Millerstown," for Squire William Miller, who laid out the first lots and built the first home in 1801.

In addition to the "Old Home Week" atmosphere of the Fairfield celebration, there will be games and amusements for young and old on the carnival grounds, and meals, sandwiches and refreshments to meet every taste.

A new feature this year in the Kiddie Ride built by members of the Fairfield Community Fire Co., which will be used for the first time at the carnival when it opens Thursday. Work of building it was done during the winter months under the supervision of Luther Kepner.

Both floors of the Community Building will be in use, and in addition tents will be erected for the various concessions on the grounds outside the building. There will be a drawing each of the three evenings. Calvin Riley, chairman of the general committee, has requested residents of Fairfield to decorate their homes.

Entertainment on Thursday evening will be furnished by the "Novelaires" of Hanover. Refreshments will be in charge of the women of the Mt. Hope section.

Parade Friday
On Friday evening the women of St. Mary's Church will be in charge of the kitchen and dining room.

HOUSE DEFEATS BILL TO LOWER PA. COMPULSORY AGE FOR SCHOOL

HARRISBURG (P)—Legislation to lower the compulsory school attendance age for children who work on farms or the homes of their parents was defeated in the House last night.

Passed by the Senate previously, the bill was aimed at helping persons of the Amish religious sect who do not believe in formal education for children over 14.

Children would have been allowed to leave school at 14 to work on the farm or home of their parent if the local school board approved.

May Quit At 15
At present 15-year-olds may drop out of school in certain cases if they can gain approval of local authorities as well as the State Department of Public Instruction.

In general school attendance is required until the age of 17. Pupils may leave at 16 if they have an employment permit signed by their parents.

The bill, sponsored by Sens. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster) and George N. Wade (R-Cumberland), was defeated, 95-64, on a vote that crossed party lines. Similar legislation that passed the 1951 Legislature was vetoed by Gov. John S. Pine.

"I believe it is part of the principle of government not to force things upon people that violate their religious beliefs," Rep. Harry E. Seyler (D-York) told the House in speaking for the bill.

Would Apply To All
Rep. Harry W. Price Jr. (R-Mifflin) called the bill "a correctional piece of legislation that will solve a long-standing problem."

Opposing the measure, Rep. Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) asked whether the bill would be "a bad precedent—how do we know other religious sects wouldn't want the same privilege?"

"Either our compulsory education system is sound or it isn't," said Rep. H. G. Andrews, Democratic floor leader, talking against the bill.

The bill would have applied to all children in the state although geared for the Amish. State aid to some Lancaster County school districts was held up several months ago over the Amish question.

HARRISBURG (P)—Higher rates for the Harrisburg Railways Co. intended to be effective July 12 have been suspended by the Public Utility Commission.

The rate fixing agency issued a six month suspension yesterday in order to investigate the fairness of the boosts which would bring in about $240,000 in additional revenue yearly.

Firemen Make New Kiddie Ride

Members of the Fairfield Community Fire Co. found difficulty in obtaining "rides" for their annual carnival, so they made their own. Under the direction of Luther Kepner the firemen devoted many hours during the past winter and spring to making and putting together this kiddie merry-go-round, which will be used for the first time at the carnival Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The picture was taken in the Community Building before the paneling was placed. The children getting a pre-view of the new device are also enjoying the free ride.

GIRL IS HURT BY GRENADE

MUNCY, Pa. (P)—Miss Mary Lou Odon, 19, was in serious condition in Muncy Valley Hospital today after suffering leg injuries in the explosion of what state police described as a grenade.

She was hurt last night in a barn on her uncle's farm near here as she was feeding a dog. Pvt. H. C.

Rudziwicz of the state police said a missile that exploded at her feet was a military type grenade.

The girl suffered shrapnel wounds of the feet and hospital personnel said she would lose most of the toes of both feet and possibly would be crippled.

State police questioned John Krysik, R. D. 1 Muncy, about the explosion. Krysik, a friend of Miss Odon, told them he was a Korean War veteran but had not brought wife went along to bait the hook. . . . YORK SPRINGS. . . . Local Bank was enhanced last week by a visit from a very pretty girl named Barbara. . . . She's Bill Weidner's granddaughter, and you can see from his grin that she's the very apple of his eye. Barb hails from York, and attends Mt. Rose School. (You wolves—she's only six years old!) . . . Gotta new snack shop in York Springs. Dick Myers is the (genial?) proprietor, and his wife is chief hamburger-maker. I suggested they call the joint "Hamburger Haven"—because so far they have been specializing in that particular branch of the culinary field. . . . If he can make as good a hamburger as the York Springs Lions serve during their outdoor meetings, his future is assured!

GETTYSBURG. . . . ATTENTION: Gettysburg Garment Co. If any of you gals need your house painted, simply call Honest Frank Bowersox Jr. . . . Went by his abode the other night and he was busy as a bee painting the following items: 1. His arms, 2. His face (neck included) 3.

His shoes and stocking and 4. Parts of his house. During the day Frank is the operator of the above business, but during the evenings he manages to transform himself into a demon painter. . . . Found ourselves a new fan down near Thurmont, Md. . . . She's Mrs. Dick Eversole, a housewife. Her husband, who works in Thurmont, has not as yet caught her reading our column BUT—be careful old gal!

TO TIMES PROOFREADERS ONLY. . . . Hey look how gals—I found three mistakes in the spelling of last week's column. . . . This has gotta stop. I don't care how much you botch up the rest of this paper, but be careful when you read this, will ya?? . . . yule hav awl ml readers thinkun i cant smell er nothin an ill have u no thet i wuz in th first top ten in ml inglish classes so thet! it so happund thet i set beht a very clever gurl who cud spell like nobodies business—an i had gud eyes. . . .

Suzanna Behney, York Springs, and Miriam Leer, York Springs R. 1, attended the 4-H Leadership School held last week at State College. Others from the county attending the sessions included Jay Crouse, Gettysburg R. 1, and Melvalene and Kenneth Nace, Hanover R. 3.

4-H CLUB TO MEET
The Agricultural 4-H Club of York Springs will meet July 27 at the home of Barry Zeigler, it was announced today.

Men did not climb Mt. Olympus until the turn of the current century.

G. Kenneth Sheaffer, Dick Spotts, Mrs. Boyd McClure, Margaret Grove, Skip Schreckengast (Don't bother sending him a card—You'll never be able to spell his last name!) Arthur Myers—and a Happy July 4th to these: Leon Trump and Bruce Arnold! Send 'em all cards . . . and bless you all. . . .

If you want rhubarb to hold its shape and provide color, don't peel it. Choose rhubarb stalks that are firm, fresh-looking and young. Rhubarb that has a flabby appearance usually gives a stringy and poor-flavored product when cooked.

PROPOSED CHILD WELFARE BILLS TO BE AMENDED

HARRISBURG (P) — Proposed child welfare legislation will be amended next week to make counties responsible for the cost of public child care agencies, Rep. John R. Haudenshield (R-Allegheny) disclosed today.

"With our present financial dilemma, we don't want to make the state responsible for these new expenses," the House Welfare Committee chairman told a newsman. The measure, based on recommendations of the governor's Committee on Children and Youth, requires that child care facilities be established in all counties of the commonwealth.

More Specific Haudenshield said a phrase in the bill spells out that welfare services be provided at "public expense." This, he said, will be changed to "county expense."

The change in wording will automatically throw out a companion bill now before the House Appropriations Committee. This measure would provide funds for state support of county child care institutions.

Haudenshield said he will call a meeting of his committee next Tuesday or Wednesday to amend the measure and vote on whether to report it to the floor for debate. He said he could not predict how the measure will fare with committee members.

300 Urge Passage "It's up to them as individuals," he said. "I don't dictate to the committee."

Prompt passage on the child welfare bills and a companion measure in the Senate setting up child adoption procedures was urged yesterday in a march on the capitol by 300 persons from many parts of the state.

The group, mostly women, represented statewide civic, church and women's associations. Petitions were presented to the Legislature containing the names of 35,000 persons urging action on the bills.

The adoption will win committee approval in the Senate some time ago, following a public hearing. It is now in position for final passage next Monday.

DR. STEPHENS DIES

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (P)—Dr. Anna O. Stephens, 49, physician at the Pennsylvania State College from 1941 to 1945 and from 1947 until the present, died here late Monday. A native of Ithaca, N. Y., she had been ill several months.

KILLED IN CRASH

HARRISBURG (P)—Pearl Curtis, 34, of nearby Steelton, one of four persons injured when two cars collided at a Harrisburg street intersection, died shortly afterwards on Monday of a fractured skull.

The farm production of Northern Ireland brought in 74 million dollars in the 1938-9 period and almost 229 million in 1951-2.

Would Make Assault On Newsman Crime

HARRISBURG (P)—Anyone striking or assaulting a news reporter or photographer on the job would be liable to a $100 fine or 90 days in jail under a new House bill.

The penal code would be amended to make it a specific crime to attack members of the working press by a bill introduced last night by Rep. John G. Kubacki (D-Berks). It also would apply whenever a photographer's equipment is damaged.

ANNEXATION PLAY OKAYED IN HARRISBURG

HARRISBURG (P)—A bill designed to settle annexation disputes and bearing unanimous approval of both houses of the Legislature is on Gov. John S. Fine's desk today.

The courts would become the final judge in cases involving annexation of parts of second class townships by cities and boroughs if the bill sponsored by Sen. George B. Stevenson (R-Clinton) is signed into law.

It was approved by the House last night, 204-0. On May 20 the Senate passed the measure, 49-0. The Quarter Sessions Court would have power to dismiss or approve the annexation proceedings and in cases where protests are filed could appoint a fact-finding board under the bill.

Township supervisors would be notified of the proposed annexation after petition of two-thirds of the property owners in the area to be annexed. Upon passage of appropriate annexation ordinances by the city or borough the case would be referred to the court.

DRIEST JUNE IN

high mark reached in June of last year on the 27th. Wide temperature ranges marked last month's weather with five days seeing readings below the 50-degree mark and the mercury once dropping to within 14 degrees of the freezing point.

The shortage of rain here last month made it the driest June since 1945 when 1.56 inches of rain fell here. The driest June on record was in 1921 when the rainfall totaled only 0.94 inches. Last month, was one of only 10 months of June in the last century with less than two inches of rainfall. The wettest June on record here was in 1928 with 9.74 inches.

More Rain At Arendtsville

The Arendtsville Laboratory Weather Station reported an average temperature for the month of 69.58 degrees. The average high was 81.5 degrees there and the average low was 57.7 degrees. Records there show the month's average was .63 degrees below normal for June and 2.5 degrees below the figure for June of last year.

Arendtsville had about double the amount of rainfall that Gettysburg received last month. The total there was 3.16 inches which is .92 inches below normal but 1.13 inches above June of last year.

The 1953 accumulated rainfall at Arendtsville for the first six months now is 7.08 inches above normal and 1.22 inches ahead of last year's figure for the first half of 1952. A high reading of 94 degrees was reached there on the 9th, 20th, 21st and 26th. The coldest day there in June was the second day of the month with a low of 47 degrees.

CONTRACTOR IS GUILTY AGAIN

CAMDEN, N. J. (P)—A Haddon Heights, N. J., building contractor has been convicted for the third time of charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The contractor, Charles R. Lamoreaux, was first convicted in October, 1950, and again last December, but won appeals each time.

Lamoreaux was accused of accepting $1,100 as a down payment on a home he was to build for a Philadelphia couple and then failing even to begin construction on the dwelling.

A jury of eight women and three men announced the verdict yesterday after an hour and 40 minutes deliberation. One of the jurors was excused earlier when he admitted knowing the defendant's attorney.

Camden County Judge Bartholomew A. Sheehan told the jurors they were "fully justified" in their verdict and said he would impose sentence July 14. Lamoreaux was released in $5,000 bail.

CHILDREN NEED EXPERIENCE IN USE OF MONEY

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
The Associated Press

We all want our children to show good sense about dollars and cents. But we sometimes forget that the ability to spend wisely comes from experience and practice.

Writing in the National Parent-Teacher Magazine, Sidonie M. Gruenberg, formerly director and now consultant of the Child Study Association of America, shows how a child can learn to handle money wisely. Says she:

"If we can only think of money as a tool, we will see that the only way a child can learn to use it skillfully is by using it. A weekly allowance offers him this necessary firsthand spending experience."

Of course he will make mistakes in the beginning, she admits. He may waste his allowance by buying candy and junk. She adds:

Trial And Error

"Learning is a slow process of trial and error. Your child learns from his mistakes as well as from his wise buys. If he spends his last quarter on a flimsy toy truck he will feel disappointed when the wheels drop off. Chances are, next time he will inspect that tempting toy more carefully before he pays good money for it."

Of course, a youngster can learn this without being given a weekly allowance, she says, but not nearly so well. Hit-or-miss handouts are like pennies from heaven. He can't plan ahead when he knows neither when he will have money nor how much. If he always gets his money on the spur of the moment or if he has to haggle and beg for every cent, he can't learn to take responsibility for spending and he never needs to think of saving.

There are, too, other ways in which a child gets lessons in spending, she points out. Boys and girls learn about money by doing minor marketing for mother or going along on shopping trips for clothing and housewares. Children can take part in some of the purchases the family makes for the home.

Not Set Amount

The amount of money you allot your child is really not so important as seeing to it that he can count on a definite sum each week, she says. There isn't any right amount for every child at a given age. The family budget and the price of things will influence the amount you can afford to set aside, and this can be explained to the child. Other questions to consider are these: Where do you live? Are there lots of alluring neighborhood stores, providing can sit down together and make out a kind of budget, she suggests. How much for movies? For candy? For hobby supplies? For birthday party gifts? This kind of planning is not meant to produce a hard-and-fast blueprint, but it does help to estimate how much money the child will feel to be necessary and how much it is reasonable for him to have.

PLAN FOR STATE TAX ON FEDERAL INCOME TAXES GAINS SUPPORT

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP)—A proposal for a state tax on federal income tax returns gathered rank-and-file impetus in the House today.

Chairman Wrayburn B. Hall (R-Potter) of the House Ways and Means Committee threw his weight behind the idea suggested by Rep. Baker W. Royer (R-Lancaster) as a way to solve the commonwealth's tax dilemma.

"To me, this tax is the ace in the hole," he told a newsman. "Despite what is said about its unconstitutionality, I think the Supreme Court would say it would be okay."

House Adjourned To Monday
Hall gave the interview as speculation developed that the high court was being polled informally on what it thinks about such a levy.

The House, after an early morning session today, adjourned until next Monday when Royer is expected to introduce his tax-upon-tax bill. The lower branch, before leaving town, passed, 155-25, and sent to the Senate a proposal to lay the groundwork for a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania.

There wasn't a word of debate as Democratic sponsors called for a surprise vote on the constitutional amendment. It requires passage by two separate sessions of the Legislature and approval by the people.

Income Tax Idea Out
In 1937, Pennsylvania voters rejected the idea of a graduated income tax in a statewide referendum.

A constitutional amendment for a graduated income levy is needed because the state's basic law now requires that all taxes be uniform upon the same class of subjects.

A brief post-midnight session

Gets Picture Fee, Closes Up Shop

GUATEMALA (AP)—The Indian, in hand-woven garments, stood by had a little stall in the municipal market. On the counter were a few bunches of garlic, a dozen small bundles of green onions. A tourist approached, camera in hand.

"May I take your picture?"

"Sure, for a fee."

The Indian collected 50 cents, suddenly packed up and hurried away.

"But why did he leave?" the tourist asked a market official.

"He has made more in two minutes than he would all day. Anything he might earn from now on would be an anti-climax, bad for his soul."

saw the House in session only to meet a technicality to permit it to adjourn until next Monday. The Senate is in recess all week.

Claims Support

Royer and Hall said three other lawmakers—Reps. Ellis E. Ferster (R-Snyder), George Goodling (R-York) and Allen Gibson (R-Warren)—would join them in sponsoring the tax-the-income-tax bill.

"If that bill ever comes to a vote, I'll bet there would be 150 votes for it," Royer told a newsman.

Royer estimated a one per cent state tax on federal income tax returns would produce 100 millions in the current biennium.

Woodside Has Doubts
Atty. Gen. Robert E. Woodside has expressed doubt that the Royer tax-upon-tax plan is constitutional.

Royer told a newsman the Legislature should nevertheless pass the tax and let the state Supreme Court determine its constitutionality.

"We could remain in session until the court decides on the law," he told a newsman. "Or, we can adjourn and have the governor call us back in special session if it is thrown out."

In any event, he added, the lawmakers would have nothing to lose by adopting his plan.

SNYDER COUNTY TRIES NEW PLAN ON MEDICAL AID FOR RELIEF FOLK

HARRISBURG (AP)—A new program aimed at saving on administrative costs involved in medical bills paid by the commonwealth for relief recipients got underway today.

Snyder County is the testing ground for the experimental plan which, if successful, may be applied throughout the state.

Robert P. Wray, deputy secretary of public assistance, said the new program can save the commonwealth $900,000 a year without reducing essential health services to people receiving relief.

Need Something New

The plan is to pay each person on public assistance $1 extra a month to take care of average medical expenses. This would replace the present system whereby the commonwealth pays medical bills for relief recipients directly.

Wray said the program was mapped out because of "general dissatisfaction" with the older system.

"Physicians, pharmacists and the patients themselves all are ready to try something new."

The Present Plan

Under the system still in effect everywhere but Snyder County, relief recipients may visit physicians as necessary, with the doctors getting $1.50 for an office visit and $2.50 for a home call plus mileage on long trips.

Public Assistance Department figures show that relief medical care cost about $4,800,000 for some 214,000 persons on the relief rolls monthly during 1952.

Under the experimental Snyder County system, persons with illnesses lasting six months or more will receive an additional $5 a month along with the regular $1 extra to be paid all relief recipients.

$35 For Maternity Cases

An extra allowance of $35 for maternity care will be continued. Blind pensioners also will receive the $1 medical allowance.

With the medical allowance added to regular relief checks the extra work of administering and mailing separate payments for medical costs is eliminated, Wray explained.

He emphasized, however, that the whole plan is experimental and other variations of it may be ap-

Lock Haven Teachers Athletics Head Named

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—Lock Haven State Teachers College today announced appointment of Dr. William D. Black as director of athletics and coach of basketball and baseball.

Dr. Black, who served last year as assistant basketball coach at the University of Indiana, succeeded Howard Yost, who resigned last mid-term to enter private business.

Dr. Black is a graduate of Iowa State Teachers College, class of 1937.

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—The alphabet has always been used in Washington for bureaus and agencies, but Vermont uses it for social activities. Women legislators were entertained at the home of Rep. Aline Ward of Moretown.

Women whose names began with the letters A through L were guests at a buffet supper one night while M through Z attended the next night. There are 54 women in the Legislature.

plled in some other counties.

A major aim of the new plan is to give relief recipients a chance to manage their own affairs along medical lines rather than have them run up a medical bill at will on the commonwealth.

"At present there is no incentive for relief recipients to hold down on medical expenses. Our aim is not to cut down on persons really needing medical care but to eliminate unnecessary expenses and administrative costs."

NOT DIFFICULT TO ENTERTAIN OUT OF DOORS

By ADELAIDE KERR

The Associated Press
Outdoor dining is becoming increasingly popular as a pleasant way to entertain in summer.

As the number of home owners grows and the weekend congestion of highways continues, an expanding number of people are inclined to take their relaxation in their own back yards and invite their nearby friends to share it with them.

These parties are a lot easier on the hostess than indoor entertaining in these days of servant scarcity. For one thing, the host has a chance to show what a chef he is; for another much simpler service is used.

In case you are interested in doing likewise, there are lots of different ideas to consider, from Sunday lunch on the terrace to an informal picnic in the backyard.

Backyard Grills

A favorite around New York is the weekend lunch or dinner charcoal-broiled steak or chicken, or grilled hamburgers generally make the heart of the meal flanked with baked or fried potatoes and green salad, or stacks of celery, radishes and carrot strips. Iced watermelon or some other fruit, with coffee, complete it.

Some people like these parties so much they have permanent brick or stone grills in their back yards. Others buy a little charcoal wagon and wheel it into the backyard to grill everything from steaks to hamburgers. Still others prefer an old-fashioned supper of baked beans, partially cooked in a bean pot in the kitchen oven, finished out of doors in a hole dug in the ground near the fire. This requires an expert cook, however, and is no trick for a novice.

Keep Service Simple

All this can be served in a number of different ways. If the guests are relatively few, everybody can gather around the glass-topped table on the terrace or around an improvised table made of a few long planks laid across two trestles. If they are many, they can be served on trays. There are some new ones with indentations to hold plates and cups, so that they don't skid, and many people like them better than small, low tables.

In any case, the service should be kept so simple that much of it can be thrown away afterward. Don't take your best china out of doors to be broken or lost. Most hostesses who entertain out of doors use plastic or paper plates and cups.

A word about what happens after the last drop of coffee has been swallowed. If your guests are old friends, they may enjoy visiting with one another more than any thing else. But if they are relatively strange to one another, it is not a bad idea to have a few simple games up your sleeve, to shake out if the party threatens to grow dull.

Stamp News

BY SYD KRONISH

The Associated Press

HENRI DUNANT, founder of the International Red Cross is honored by the Saar with a new 15-franc-plus-5 brown stamp.

Dunant first conceived the idea of a Red Cross organization in a booklet, "Un Souvenir de Solferino." He had witnessed appalling scenes of blood shed during a war in Italy in 1862 and the booklet told of the wounded left to perish on the battlefield for lack of medical assistance.

He urged the necessity of permanent societies for the aid of the wounded. His appeal quickly found its echo.

Dunant's efforts were responsible for the famed Geneva Conference of 1863, which laid down the fundamental principles of the Red Cross as well as for treatment of prisoners during war time.

From these beginnings the Red Cross grew into the vast, humanitarian organization it is today.

The additional value on this adhesive goes to the Red Cross in the Saar.

Also issued was a 15-franc blue stamp for "Stamp Day" in the Saar.

A THREE-VALUE agricultural set has been issued by Guatemala, reports the New York Stamp Co. The 1/2-centavo Blue and brown shows a farmer working in the field. The 1-c orange and green illustrates a jungle scene. The 2-c red and brown pictures an aerial view of an agricultural colony.

BEAUTIFUL summer flowers are the theme of a new semi-postal set from the Netherlands. Each stamp bearers a drawing of a flower seen in the Dutch countryside in the summer time. The 2-cents-plus-2 purple depicts a hyacinth, 5-c-plus-3 orange a marigold, 6-c plus-4 green a daffodil, 10-c plus-5 carmine an anemone, 20-c plus-5 blue an iris. The additional values on this set go to social and cultural welfare agencies in the Netherlands.

BOTH SIDES of the Iron Curtain in Germany have put forth new stamps. In continuation of its "Famous Berliners" series, the Western sector issued a 40-pfennig brown stamp bearing a portrait of Wilhelm Humboldt. The Soviet sector issued three stamps for the "Sixth International Bicycle Race." The 24-pf green, 35-pf blue and 60-pf brown show various scenes of the race.

TO COMMEMORATE the founding of the Order of the Knights of Labor, Italy has issued a new stamp. The 25-lire purple stamp depicts a bee on a honeycomb. In the bottom corners are two medals usually conferred on persons of distinction in industry, commerce and agriculture in that country. One is the Order of Merit, established by the Italian government in 1901. The other is the Star of Merit, created in 1923.

HAITI's seven new pictorials have arrived in this country. The three lower values are for regular postage. The four higher ones are

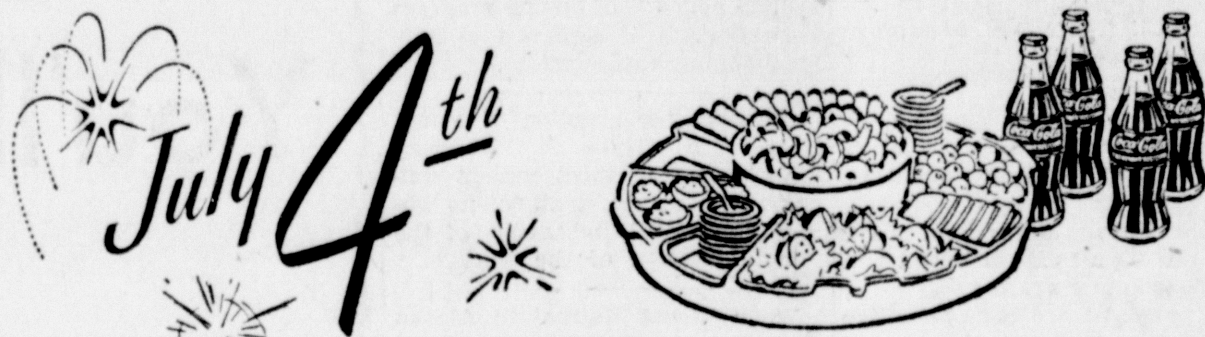

Wheeler Retracts Divorce Case Link

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.) said Tuesday he was wrong in linking Justice William O. Douglas to an Oregon divorce case, in his efforts to have the justice impeached.

Wheeler, still pressing his charges of "high crimes and misdemeanors" against the Supreme Court justice, told a special House Judiciary Subcommittee he had listed the divorce angle on the basis of a newspaper report.

"The implication carried in the newspaper story was false," he said. "The divorce proceedings in Portland, Ore., did not involve Justice Douglas."

SEEK SENATE'S APPROVAL FOR FOREIGN AID BILL

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Republican leaders kept the Senate working on a stepped-up schedule today in hopes of winning final approval of a $5,318,000,000 foreign aid program without a single cut voted on, the floor.

In two days of debate so far, not a single reduction in the total has even been proposed, something that has not happened in recent years in consideration of such measures.

However, several senators have said they expect to try to slash heavily into the program when the actual money is up for debate later. The pending measure merely sets a ceiling in the new fiscal year which starts today.

Has Passed House

The House has passed a $4,998,000,000 authorization bill.

The Senate worked on the foreign aid measure until midnight last night. Acting Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) said he would push for quick passage although four or five amendments remained to be debated.

One, by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), would permit the Mutual Security Administration to take some of the funds intended for military equipment purchases in this country and use them instead for buying surplus U. S. farm commodities to be delivered to foreign countries.

The recipients would pay for these goods in local currencies which would be used to buy military equipment abroad.

The Senate got around to voting on amendments last night after two days of speeches on the bill. The Senate voted to give President Eisenhower considerable leeway in parceling out the funds authorized, but it balked at authorizing him to give away the huge stocks of surplus farm commodities acquired by the government under its price support program.

The Senate also rejected, 42-18, an amendment by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) to permit the President to make available out of funds earmarked for the Far East up to 25 million dollars worth of the government-held farm surpluses.

DALLAS (AP)—Somebody stole the car of a New York salesman in Dallas. The salesman, W. F. Stewart, was pretty worried about it because the rear trunk compartment contained imported lingerie and linens which he valued at $100,000.

Police found the car two days later. Stewart anxiously opened the trunk compartment. The merchandise hadn't been disturbed.

Fancy New Irons Cause Brand Trouble

DENVER (AP)—The fancy electric and gas-heated branding irons now being used by some cattlemen are putting brands that can't be read on Colorado's cattle, says Ed Paul, Colorado brand commissioner. It's the greenhorn cattlemen who are messing up the brands, Paul believes.

Paul has high hopes for improvement soon because the men attracted to the business by high profits a few years back are now getting out as the price of livestock drops.

"They get their irons too hot or too cold," he says. "If the irons are cold, they won't make permanent scars. If they're too hot, they burn across the brands and smear them up," he explained.

When your eyes are tired you are more apt to be bothered by cinders and dust because the tissues do not react normally to get rid of foreign matter.

Dillsburg

DILLSBURG—Pvt. Ralph Rider, formerly of Franklinton, stationed at Carlisle, and Mrs. Rider, became the parents of a daughter June 22 at the Barracks Hospital in Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wehler and son, Barry, Franklinton, were among the large party of relatives entertained recently at Hanover where Mrs. Wehler's great-grandfather, Abraham Altland, has been spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Caler. The Calers entertained in honor of Mr. Altland when Father's Day occurred the same day as his 93rd birthday. Mr. Altland, a native of East Berlin where he spent most of his life, is well again despite his advanced age.

The next meeting of the Women's Work organization of the Bermudian Church of the Brethren is scheduled for Tuesday, July 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Roy King, Bigmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. James Williams.

Franklinton, recently entertained the John Horn family, Baltimore, and Mrs. Dorothy Leister, Washington, D. C. Sharon Williams has returned after being entertained at New Cumberland for several days.

Announcement was made last week of the engagement of Nancy L. Taylor, Mt. Wolf R. 1, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Trimmer, Wells, to Carl G. Knaub, Wrightsville, son of Mr. and Mrs.

George Knaub. Miss Taylor is an alumnae of Manchester High School. An illustrated lecture on missionary work in Jamaica was a part of the special service Sunday evening at the Franklinton U. B.

Church, sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. Mildred Sealover, Franklinton, entertained at a party last week at their home in celebration of the ninth birthday of her daughter, Donna. Those entertained were: Donna Weigle, Mary Wonders, Bonnie Foulk, Patty Sheffer, Vernon Barry, Sandra Runk, Darlene and June Sealover with Mrs. Eugene Wonders and Mrs. George Detter.

All Major Recommendations Of Chesterman Committee Tossed In Legislative Ash Can By House

By BEN FRENCH
HARRISBURG (AP)—All of the major recommendations of the Chesterman committee were in the legislative trash can today following House defeat of another Senate-passed bundle.

The House last night voted down a Chesterman bill to merge the health, welfare and public assistance departments by an overwhelming 164-9 vote.

The proposed merger, which the committee estimated would result eventually in a savings of more than 10 million dollars a biennium, was the last of the Senate-passed Chesterman measures to be acted upon by the House.

Had Passed Senate
The House had previously turned down a proposed plan to do away with the State Commerce Department. It was the only other major recommendation to pass the Senate.

The House also defeated last night, 95-58, a Chesterman proposal to permit the state to prosecute relatives of persons on relief for non-support. It lacked the required 105 votes needed to pass a bill.

Two other Chesterman recommendations also were soundly trounced last night when they were called up in a surprise move by the House leadership.

One Bill Passes
A measure to place the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission in the Public Instruction Department fell, 159-10. The commission is now a separate agency. A bill to permit the removal of the superintendent of public instruction for cause was defeated by a 119-42 vote.

The only Chesterman bills passed by both Houses and signed into law by Gov. John S. Fine are those increasing the fees for issuance of certain state licenses.

Fine appointed the committee, headed by Francis J. Chesterman, Philadelphia, last year to look for possible economies and ways of increasing efficiency in the state government. The committee came up with a plan which it said could save 100 million dollars a biennium by 1960.

Not a single lawmaker got up last night to speak for the merger of the health, welfare and public assistance department.

Reps. George J. Sarraf (D-Allegheny) and Preston A. Frost (R-Center) urged that the bill be voted down.

"Before such a radical change is made in our state government I believe it should receive more study," Frost said.

Sarraf, a physician, said he thought the plan "would cost more than could be saved."

In all, nearly 60 bills based on recommendations of the Chesterman committee were introduced in the Senate. The number is deceiving since only 11 embodied major proposals and others were merely companion bills.

However, Fine has placed a number of the suggestions not requiring legislation into effect. They include such things as standardizing diets at state institutions and centralizing the purchase of food and cutting down on the use of state-owned cars.

PLAN TO TREAT PA. ALCOHOLICS BEFORE HOUSE

HARRISBURG (AP)—A three-pronged program for the treatment and care of Pennsylvania's one-quarter of a million alcoholics is detailed in a bill before the House today.

Half a million dollars for rehabilitation of alcoholics would be given the State Health Department under the measure introduced last night by Reps. F. Garrett Richter and Thomas P. Geer, Allegheny County Republicans.

The bill has the support of the administration. Gov. John S. Fine, even before his opening message to the 1953 session, called for the appropriation.

On Upswing In State
He told the Legislature that alcoholism is fast becoming recognized as a disease and is on the upswing in the state.

Actual costs of treatment would be paid by the patient himself, his relatives or home county. He would be admitted to the hospital or clinic established through the program at his own request or by court order.

The legislation would set up a division of alcoholic studies and rehabilitation with a physician as director. It would (1) study the problems of alcoholism; (2) treat and rehabilitate persons addicted to excessive use of alcoholic beverages; and (3) promote preventive and educational programs designed to eliminate alcoholism.

Other House Bills
Other new House bills would: Require motor vehicle operators to be re-examined at least once every five years—Rep. Harold Wescott (R-Susquehanna). Require the Revenue Department to issue two motor vehicle license plates—James Davis (R-Forest).

Require the posting in all public places on the maximum number of persons which may assemble at one time—Reps. John Murray, George E. Jenkins and Andrew Thomas, Allegheny Democrats.

Tax Exemption Plan
Exempt persons on relief from paying per capita taxes—Rep. John Jump (R-Luzerne).

FIRE-BLIGHT OF POME FRUITS

Blight of pear, apple, quince and other pomaceous trees and shrubs is a bacterial disease common throughout the eastern two-thirds of the United States. Over the past three or four decades it has all but exterminated pear trees from home orchards and driven the preponderance of culture of this fruit to the Pacific Coast. Of course, blight-resistant varieties of pears are now available and should be grown. But in all cases where this disease affects any pome fruit trees, growers should know what to do to curb it, and better, they should know how to prevent outbreaks or to keep damages reduced.

Experience indicates that the bacteria prefer new or tender growths, hence the organisms attack twigs even as early as the blossoming period and may continue active, especially on water-sprouts, until growth ceases in the fall. Bacteria from overwintering cankers reach the blossoms and from there may be carried to other blooms and twigs by bees.

With the arrival of hot, dry mid-summer weather spread is greatly hindered.

Fire-blight is easily recognized at this time of the year or even earlier by blackened leaves still adhering to stricken branches. Occasionally entire branches, trunks and collars are invaded and killed.

Whenever blighted twigs and branches are observed they should be cut out promptly and burned. The severance should be made back in sound wood and the pruning knife, shears or saw should be sterilized in Reimer's solution or a 1:1000 solution of corrosive sublimate. Both of these solutions are highly poisonous and should be prepared and handled with extreme care. They should not be mixed or used in metal containers. The solution may be applied to the pruning tool with a sponge fastened to a stick. Bury remaining portions of solutions left over.

Wounds over two inches in diameter should be coated with a tree wound paint, heavy white lead paint, or coal tar thinned with creosote.

ROYALTY TOPS TIMBER—Dutch Princess Beatrix and her Argentine mount, Atlanta, sail over a jump in horse show near Soestdijk Palace. She was fourth in general standing.

Because the bacteria attack new growth more severely, trees which develop slowly are less likely to suffer from the infection. Therefore, in regions where blight is severe, it is unwise to feed pome fruit trees excessively with nitrogenous fertilizers. This is especially true of pear trees.

It is desirable that pear growing be restored to this region and generally throughout the North and East where vast orchards formerly grew. That this is possible as more immunity to blight is bred into varieties seems assured.

Lighter pruning and thereby the growth of less new wood each year tends to curb blight infection.

Many orchardists combine with with "cutting-out" control measures applications of 1-3-50 Bordeaux mixture when susceptible trees are at the 75 per cent bloom stage. No lead arsenate or other insecticide should be added because it would kill pollen-carrying bee. Perhaps russeting may result from the Bordeaux application but in cases where blight would otherwise ruin the crop, such trees may be considered as a good spraying risk anyway. The russeted fruit is entirely satisfactory for home consumption.

The full spray program to insure control of sap-sucking insects aids in reducing the amount of blight transfer among trees.

Few lawns escape invasions of crabgrass. And in many cases this unsightly grass entirely crowds out desirable grasses and leaves the owner with an extremely acute problem of eradication on his hands. How may this grass be prevented? What should the owner do to overcome infestations?

Crabgrass is an annual. That is, it grows only from seed matured each summer. Therefore, the key to prevention lies in avoiding introductions of seed and, is the grass gains a hold in the lawn, to eradicate it or otherwise prevent its forming and maturing a seed crop.

Because livestock manure often contains viable crabgrass seeds, use of manure for top dressing the lawn over winter should be avoided. Too, if fertility can be built up by any other means, manures should not be used in preparing a new lawn. Herein is the reason that the editor recommends every summer that persons who intend to build new lawns or make general repairs to old run-down turfs should obtain their repair or building loam several weeks before time to use it. In the interim the loam can be spread out and kept moist to germinate most of the weed and crabgrass seeds it contains.

Of course, care should be exercised in buying lawn seed in order to obtain mixtures containing a minimum of undesirable seeds. Thus, cheap seed may in the long run prove the most expensive.

But when crabgrass appears in the lawn every owner should know the most effective means of eradication and extermination. And this is not via dependence on chemical weed killers. The method is found in a characteristic of crabgrass—its dislike for shade.

In all lawns where crabgrass exists the mower should be set to cut grass higher, beginning in early June and continuing until late August or early September. In other words, as long as there is danger of crabgrass seed germinating the regular grass should be cut higher for the purpose of providing a shade for the soil surface, thereby preventing the crabgrass seed's germination or choking out the tiny plants if the seed does germinate.

This advice may in the minds of careless lawn owners lead to the assumption of not mowing grass at all. Of course, such a course leads inevitably to a complete failure. Lawn grass must be mowed frequently all summer, but as already stressed, it should be left higher from early June until late summer.

Here's a bit of good news

for the man who runs his car on Esso Extra!

When a man buys "premium" grade gasoline, it's a safe bet he does so from a desire to realize the most he can from his investment in his car. But it isn't easy for the ordinary person to make a really expert selection of his brand of gasoline!

Your engine can tell one from another in several important ways. But for you it's a little harder! You can tell which knocks and which doesn't. You can tell which seems to give a good feeling of power. But you never actually see your gasoline at work, and many of the differences only show in your engine over a period of time.

So we're happy to tell those loyal friends who make it a regular habit to drop in on our Esso Dealers, and to pin their faith to the Esso Extra pump, that they couldn't be more right if they had all the petroleum knowledge in the world!

Regardless of hopeful opinions you may hear to the contrary...we've got brass-tacks proof that today's Esso Extra meets the highest standard of all-round, year-round performance quality.

And here's just how we know this...

First, we take eight performance qualities which automotive engineers agree are important and capable of measurement in a gasoline:

1. Sheer Power; 2. High Anti-Knock; 3. Long Mileage; 4. Clean Engine Operation; 5. Quick Starting; 6. Fast Warm-Up; 7. Hot Weather Anti-Vapor-Lock; 8. Cool Weather Anti-Stalling.

Then, we carefully test Esso Extra for these qualities against all gasolines that compete with it. And the pay-off is that, time and again in these tests, Esso Extra meets the highest standard of overall, year-round performance quality to be found!

Add to this the fact that Esso Extra is the largest-selling premium gasoline in the area served by Esso Dealers...and this should be cheering news to Esso Extra fans...and cause for sober thought to others!

So...thanks for your business, and thanks for your attention, and have a "Happy Motoring" summer, with the knowledge that you just can not find a better grade of gasoline year-round than Esso Extra for the modern horsepower in your faithful engine!

Esso Extra meets today's highest standard of year-round gasoline performance!

SPEED is the Killer!

The explosion of ILLEGAL FIRECRACKERScould not cause the havoc to life and limb resulting from only a score of traffic accidents!

The people of Pennsylvania outlawed the sale of firecrackers because they wanted a SAFE AND SANE FOURTH OF JULY.

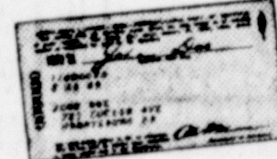

They outlawed a still greater danger—speeding on our highways!

Yet speeders are causing more than one out of three fatal accidents, and are contributing to many others. To safeguard everyone's life—yours too—state authorities are trying to rid Pennsylvania's highways of SPEEDERS.

This means you must keep within posted speed limits on the Fourth of July—and every day—or risk suspension of your license. If you speed and are involved in an accident—you face revocation of your license.

CO-OPERATE WITH US BY FOLLOWING THE BEST TRAFFIC RULE OF ALL—THE GOLDEN RULE. TAKE TIME TO BE SAFE!

This is NOT a license to kill or injure.

IKE'S PRESTIGE AT STAKE TODAY ON DEFENSE BILL

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's military prestige was thrown today into a campaign to ward off House increases in the coming year's 34 billion dollar defense budget.

A Democratic move was under way to restore more than one billion dollars cut from new Air Force funds for the fiscal year starting today.

Rep. Scrivner (R-Kan.) said in a speech prepared to open debate that the only issue on the defense budget is a choice between the Eisenhower-backed 120-wing Air Force and the 143-wing goal set three years ago by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Before House Today
The House argues the question today with a vote due tomorrow on the $34,434,140,500 budget. This is six billion dollars less than former President Truman recommended and $1,337,422,500 below Eisenhower's "minimum," cut that amount by the House Appropriations Committee.

The money bill earmarks these funds, compared with Truman's recommendations:
Army — $12,982,000,000 ($12,109,591,000) with the increase due to inclusion of Korean War costs.
Navy — $9,384,383,000 ($16,078,000,000). Eisenhower recommended $11,288,000,000.
Rep. Price (D-Ill.) declaring that "unwarranted" cuts of five billion dollars in Air Force funds would mean "wrecking the Air Force," asked the House to restore $1,415,000,000.

To Offer Amendment
Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.) said he would propose to tomorrow an amendment to restore $1,175,000,000 to the Air Force. This, he said, would be the amount requested by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, retired Air Force chief of staff, as the minimum to reach 143 wings by 1957. There are 30 to 75 planes, depending upon their type, in a wing.

Vandenberg requested $1,435,000,000 but this includes 260 million dollars for base construction which the House is not considering now.

Scrivner, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee which considered Air Force funds, said the shutdown program has been "recommended by President Eisenhower, whose military judgment is . . . (as) the nation's most outstanding and successful military leader."

Need New Home For Huge Relief Model

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The city is looking for new quarters for the spectacular panoramic relief model of California exhibited in the nave of the Ferry building at the foot of historic Market Street.

The building is to be remodeled for other purposes. The map is 800 feet long and 17½ feet wide and required 14 months of labor by engineers, draftsmen, sculptors, geographers and artists.

Immense amounts of material were used — 2,500 square feet of plate glass for instance. It has 800,000 hand-carved miniature buildings.

East Berlin

EAST BERLIN — Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Harlacher, near Red Run, entertained at dinner recently in honor of Mrs. Laura Nickel, York, who marked her 88th birthday. The aged lady shared the birthday honors with two great-grandchildren, Patsy Leber and Harlan Harlacher Jr., who recently celebrated their 14th birthdays. Between 30 and 40 persons were present.

Miss Sylvia M. Schimmel, who entered the York Hospital School of Nursing last summer after her graduation from the local high school, has returned there after a brief vacation at the Hampton home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Schimmel. During her visit, her parents, sister, Barbara and a neighbor, Sandra Inskip, accompanied Miss Schimmel on a trip to Baltimore.

Mrs. Edmund Carroll, near Paradise Protectors, is recuperating after a recent operation at West Side Osteopathic Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Altland, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Altland, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Fourman, Mrs. Bertha Altland, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fahs, Miss Dolly Shultz, Mary Elizabeth Altland, Collin Altland and Barry Fahs were among the large group of relatives entertained June 21 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Caler, Hanover, where a celebration was tendered a former East Berlin resident, Abraham Altland combining Father's Day with his 93rd birthday.

Pvt. William A. Gerber Jr., near Red Run, marked his 20th birthday June 24 at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., where he is taking basic army training. The young man was inducted late this May.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Hofman and Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison Leathery Sr., R. 1, spent a day recently with William A. Sinner and daughter Miss Katharine M. Sinner, York, formerly of here. The Sinner, plan to entertain during July at a meeting of the Worth White Club of the Red Run area. The club plans a picnic during August for the staff and residents of the Children's Home, York. It will be held in the O. S. Hofman grove near Red Run Church.

The Rev. Francis L. Mignot, acting pastor of Paradise Catholic Church announces that First Friday services for July will be at 7 a.m., July 3, with mass at the school chapel, followed by benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Confessions will be heard at the chapel Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Saturday, also at the school chapel at 7 a.m., will be mass in observance of the First Saturday in honor of Our Lady of Fatima, followed by fifteen minutes spent by those present in private recitation of the Rosary for the intention of World Peace.

Kenneth Messinger, Spring Grove, a grandson of Mrs. Jacob Keeney, this place, and a frequent visitor here, has been obliged to walk with crutches as the result of an accident at a Spring Grove plant where he was working. The young man's toe was crushed when a large skid fell on his foot.

Evangeline Alleman, youngest daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Snyder Alleman, New Bridgeville, has been spending a vacation with her sister, Mrs. George N. Ruth and family, R. 3.

Townpeople who are not approached for donations of food-stuffs or cash, to be used to prepare the three-night carnival of the East

Berlin Fire Company at Adams County Fairgrounds July 9, 10 and 11, are requested to volunteer their donations and take them to the home of J. Calvin Lerew where they will be placed in frozen storage until needed.

The carnival proceeds this year will help defray the expense in the recent purchase of the David S. Kime store building by the firemen to be used as their new fire hall.

Plans are underway for three evenings of games, entertainment, meals and refreshments for the public, with the Ladies Auxiliary assisting. Musicians engaged are: Shortly Fincher, for July 9; the East Berlin High School band for July 10 and Cook's German band from Reading for the Saturday closing night.

Members of the East Berlin High School band held a reunion June 20 at the Stone Church picnic grove near Glenville where they also filled an engagement as musicians for a farmers' group meeting at the grove.

Benjamin Krall was elected vice-president of the Brillhart family reunion organization at the recent reunion at Parquhar Park, York, attended by a number of Edward Brillhart descendants from this and other sections. Mr. Krall also had charge of arrangements for the program given after the picnic meal at the park. Among others elected were Mrs. John Ream as secretary and Parke W. Brillhart as treasurer; both reside near here.

Since 1927 in the United States there have been 321,000 pedestrians killed in traffic says the National Geographic Society.

Although Brazil produced about 99 per cent of the world's rubber in 1900, by 1934 nearly 99 per cent came from the Far East.

95 Occupations Represented In Gettysburg Fire Department

The Gettysburg Fire Department, taken collectively, is a "jack of all trades." A list of fire company members' trades and occupation, compiled by Equipment Foreman Eugene S. Sickles, lists 95 different "walks of life" in this fire-fighting outfit of 126 members and approximately 60 retired members.

Heading the list of occupations are 22 furniture workers. Next to them come 11 laborers. There are seven bartenders, seven policemen and seven battlefield guides; five salesmen and five automobile mechanics; four truck drivers, four gas maintenance men, four office workers and four clerks; three retired battlefield guides, three service station proprietors, three service station attendants, three mail carriers, three grocers, three janitors, three school bus drivers, three building custodians, three painters, three auto painters, three power linemen and three government depot employees.

Other Occupations

The list shows two of each of the following occupations: retired postal employees, truckers, carpenters, physicians, electricians, restaurant proprietors, tailors, undertakers, plumbers, lodge secretaries, accountants, battlefield laborers, telephone linemen, garage managers, garage owners, garage shop foremen, bus drivers and taxi drivers.

Other occupations in which at one member of the fire company is employed are: Retired trucker, lawyer, equipment operator, Burgess, tax assessor, civil defense director, petroleum products distributor, machinist, builder, coal dealer, advertising salesman, timekeeper, auto radiator repairman, awning installer, postal clerk, postmaster, farmer, drug store proprietor, sign painter, meter reader, cook, plasterer, justice of the peace, county committee chairman, tile manufacturer, auto parts store manager, iceman, milkman, baker, expressman, telephone right of way supervisor, appliance store proprietor, auto store manager, tunnel worker, fire marshal, health officer, taxi firm proprietor, real estate operator, merchant seaman, sanitary engineer, water engineer, explosives expert, rabbit breeder, commercial photographer, army captain, reserve, first aid instructor, game warden, pharmacist, watchmaker, building superintendent, auto salesman, doorman and inspector.

Many Duplications

There are numerous "duplications" in the list, however. For instance, William G. Weaver, president of the fire company, is also Burgess, tax assessor and county director of Civil Defense. Several others have more than one job or occupation. Second Assistant Chief Donald E. Staub is also health officer, fire marshal, school bus driver and custodian of the fire engine house. He formerly was a plumber.

Justice of the Peace John H. Base-hore is Republican county chairman, borough treasurer and tax ap-praiser, among other things. Some of the battlefield guides have other occupations. Mr. Sickles is a sign painter by profession and fireman and equipment foreman by avoca-tion. The "extra" borough police of-ficers have other jobs.

TIN PRICES LOW

SINGAPORE (AP) — A num-ber of mines have closed owing to the big tumble in the price of tin, the head of one of the two smelting companies in Malaya disclosed.

E. M. F. Ferguson, chairman of the Straits Trading Co., in a report to the company's annual general meeting also said the present price of tin is probably the lowest at which the metal could be produced, excluding develop-ment and exploration.

Wierman's Mill

Mr. and Mrs. Parvin Bower and Mrs. Clarence Hoff spent Saturday in Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller and son, Kenney, are spending a two-week vacation with relatives at Grand Forks, N. D.

Mrs. Earle Rhoads and son, Earle Jr., moved last week into the Griest home on Main St., York Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller left Saturday for their new home in River Falls, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wierman, Dillsburg, visited Mr. and Mrs. Hiliary R. Kennedy, Sunday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Profes-sionally, they're at swords points, but when it comes to the old school tie Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell and his Republican counterpart, Leon-ard Hall, see eye to eye. They're both a l u m n a e of Georgetown University's School of Law here. Hall graduated in 1920, Mitchell in 1928.
